Pennsylvania Members Of Congress Assail New Russian Trade Treaty

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A split between the state department and congressional representatives from the Pennsylvania anthracite region was threatened today over the terms of the Soviet trade treaty.

Assurances that importation of coal from Soviet Russia—400,000 tons of anthracite coal is to be admitted duty free in the next year—will not be allowed to increase will be sought.

Rep. Boland of Pennsylvania, Democratic whip of the house, planned to seek pledges that importations will be restricted while other members proposed to make a general protest against the treaty.

LOYALISTS SHOW MORE STRENGTH

(International News Service)
VALENCIA, Aug. 7.—The Teruel front, where rebels sent a Salamander-shaped salient toward Madrid's main road to the sea, became today the scene of one of the most bitterly fought battles of the civil war when insurgents turned angrily on Loyalist counter-attacking armies.

So violent was the Loyalist onslaught on three flanks of the perilously-drawn rebel line that several villages northwest of Madrid were taken before the counter-thrust was halted by onrushing insurgent reinforcements.

Maj. Gen. Price Assails Present Day Trends In Dedication Address

High on a timbered knoll of the Castletown Burial Park, a most unusual military service was held Friday afternoon by the Society of the 28th Division and co-operating ex-service bodies. A veteran of the Revolution, John Manning, was re-interred after lying for a hundred years in another grave, the veteran section of the park was dedicated and a military spectacle presented that will not soon be forgotten.

To many of the veterans present the service must have brought back memories of military burials in France. A splattering of rain brush-

tion This Morning

Closing the convention of the Society of the 28th division which has been meeting in The Castletown Hotel since Thursday, the election of officers and selection of 1938 convention site was held today. William A. Miller of Harrisburg was elected president and Sunbury was selected as the site of the 1938 convention.

The exact date was not set due to the fact that the Sunbury post wants the convention at a time when the new memorial to General Charles H. Clements can be dedicated.

With President Miller the following officers were elected: First vice president, Dale Wilcox of Pittsburgh; second vice, John McElwee of Chester; third vice, D. R. McKinnis of Sunbury; fourth vice, Joseph Anselman, New York City; secretary-treasurer, Harry J. Bitter, Harrisburg; judge advocate, Major J. E. Wright of Harrisburg; historian, William Jones of Harrisburg; sergeant at arms, E. F. Day of Oil City.

Stirring Session.
The session today was a stirring one marked by a contest between the Philadelphia delegates and the Sunbury delegates for the convention site. Invitations were read from Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia and the chamber of Commerce but the convention felt that the size of the convention would not warrant its being taken to a city as large as Philadelphia. William A. Hill of Philadelphia, candidate for president, then withdrew his nomi-

Gen. Shannon Makes Visit To Jas. A. Fletcher

Leaders Of 28th Division Also
Inspect Work Being Done
On New Armory Here

In the excitement of meeting his former buddies of the 28th now in convention in the Castletown hotel, Major-General Edward C. Shannon did not forget an old friend of his who by reason of disabilities was unable to get to the hotel, James A. Fletcher of Madison avenue.

"There are two things I want to do while I am here," said General Shannon. "First I want to inspect the new Joseph V. Cunningham Armory and then I want to call on Jimmie Fletcher. With Generals William G. Price, Jr. and C. Blaine Smathers, General Shannon was taken to Cascade Park to view the new armory and then to the Seventh ward to call upon Jimmie Fletcher.

All three of the generals expressed themselves as pleased with the design of the new armory and expressed the hope that it would soon be ready for dedication.

Arthur Mometer

They're had their fun and they're lost their sleep, and they're tired but happy I'd say, and the 28th men are about to leave when it's eighty-seven today. For three days and nights they have rollicked about, and forgotten the passage of years, and the days have been busy and nights carefree and filled with their din and their cheers. So here's so long till you come again you're welcome and that fact is true, for that kind of citizen every town needs, the 28th meeting is through.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Cascade street residents have emerged from their cyclone cellars since the street has been newly ashed and oiled. A long time after it was surfaced with crushed limestone, living condition were almost unbearable, since no oil was used, and the dust was so heavy you could cut it with a knife.

Robert Patterson, of East Brook, who was here inspecting the installation of parking meters yesterday, is one of the old-time singing school teachers of the county. Patterson used to teach the "do, ray, me" all over Lawrence county and part of Ohio. The last singing school which he taught was at Mahoning grange some five or six years ago. His old pupils remember him as a very efficient instructor. He has laid down the baton to wield the saw and hatchet in his trade as a carpenter. He has just completed building a modern chicken house in Butler county. While on the job he drove 28 miles each way from his home at East Brook.

During the past few days a lot of local people have been getting stiff necks looking for a comet which is supposed to be flitting with the Great Dipper. Either it has refused to keep its date or the star gazers need some new lenses for their eyes, as nobody has reported anything better than a vivid imagination. The comet is scheduled for its nearest approach to the earth on August 10, so it may be well to keep looking, even if you do have to saturate the old head holder with rubbing alcohol.

Score another accident for the grade crossing at Harlansburg. There is a clear view of the highways in all directions at this point, but still motorists are killed or maimed with a regularity that is shocking. Looks as though an overhead bridge on one of the highways is about the only solution.

After almost three weeks of rainless weather, extremely arid except for several small showers, the heavens opened up last evening, and again this morning, an inch and a half of rainfall being recorded. It proved very beneficial to garden truck and lawns, which were beginning to suffer from lack of rainfall.

Have you been to Harlansburg recently? The road has been re-black-topped and the trip is not the hectic, bucking broncho affair it used to be.

School reunion time is here again and it looks like a throng of out-of-towners will be here for the next two weeks. August 12 is the date of the Martin Garitz, Princeton, Harbor and Matthews school reunions. August 17 is when the Mulentowners and Reynoldstowners will meet. August 18 as you already know, is Old Timers Day.

Camp Phillips will be taken over tomorrow afternoon by a throng of New Castle Girl Scouts.

Japanese Will Be Withdrawn From Hankow

(BULLETIN)
HANKOW, China, Aug. 7.—Japanese armed forces, which have been facing Chinese bayonets across the concession of Hankow's Japanese concession today were ordered to withdraw by noon Sunday.

In a significant move—possibly indicating that Tokyo has no desire to precipitate immediate warfare—the Japanese government authorized Chinese authorities temporarily to take over the Japanese concession, in order to avert hostilities which seemed imminent.

Trouble at Hankow loomed when this river city became the center of a nation-wide boycott movement against Japan.

Three hundred Japanese marines were landed, and truculently faced Chinese armed forces across the concession's border. Japanese women and children were evacuated.

UNDER ARREST AT JEFFERSON, OHIO

(International News Service)
Two eighteen year old boys confessed to New Castle officers yesterday at Jefferson, O., that they held up and robbed the Matthews gasoline station, near Parkstown corners, July 17 and used a cap pistol not only in this robbery but in several others, the local officers claim. They are said to have robbed four gasoline stations and to have entered a building in Ohio after they fled from Pennsylvania into Ohio.

They are John Edward, 617 North Main street, Hubbard; and Edward Holland, Hubbard, R. D. 2. Both are said to come from highly respectable families and embarked on their career of crime to get "easy money."

The officers who questioned the youths yesterday are City Detective J. Young, County Detective A. S. Leslie and State Trooper Edward Redman. The officers returned last night.

Substitute Court Bill Is Called Up

Senate Prepares For Action On
"Peace Treaty" In Supreme Court Dispute

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The "peace treaty" that ended a five-month battle over President Roosevelt's supreme court bill, was called up in the senate today while administration leaders strove to end revolts which threatened to prolong the congressional session indefinitely.

"The 'peace treaty' constituted a substitute bill, which left the supreme court untouched and authorized only procedural reforms in the lesser federal judiciary. Under a gentleman's agreement, administration leaders were pledged to fight all efforts to amend it.

The administration, meanwhile made slow progress with its legislative program. The senate passed an emancipated $700,000,000 Wagner housing act and sent it to the house, while the house was passing the new sugar quota bill in revolt against the president and sending it to the senate. Both bills threatened to provoke bitter warfare before final enactment.

MAJ. GEN. PRICE ASSAILS PRESENT DAY TRENDS

Living to rise in their wrath against attempts to rob present day Americans of their heritage handed down from the Revolution. "We need the Americanism our forefathers gave us," said General Price. "The time will come and all too soon I am afraid when our sons and grandsons will have to undergo more serious times than have we, unless the present day trend towards plutocracy ceases."
As he finished his address General Price lauded the idea of a veteran's section in the burial park and said "I now dedicate this plot in the name of the Society of the 28th Division and the other veteran bodies co-operating here today." As he finished the flag was run up to the top of the seventy foot pole, the American Legion Band played the Star Spangled Banner and the veterans stood at attention.

Funeral Cortege
A moment later the funeral cortege moved out from the Wilmington Avenue entrance. The casket of John Manning, flag draped, was on an artillery caisson. Heading the cortege were four Legion band boys acting as color bearers and guards.

Senior Vice Commander Norman P. Nelson and uniformed members of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, arriving at the grave, an informal service was held by Rev. J. McElvaine and Post Commander David Tobin of the American Legion and Senior Vice Commander Norman P. Nelson conducted the Legion grave service. As they finished, a firing squad of troopers fired three volleys over the grave and bugler Al Jones, of Harrisburg, blew taps. From a spot over in a thicket another bugler took it up in echo.

President Conn Opens
The service was opened by National President A. Lewis Conn, of the Society of the 28th Division. Briefly he outlined the purpose of the service and introduced Major Arthur B. Foster, prior to the speaking the Legion band played "America" and Rev. McElvaine pronounced the invocation.
Major C. J. Wadlinger was the first speaker and he dwelt upon the bond of service between the men of the Revolution and the World War. "John Manning and his mates did not die in vain," said Major Wadlinger. "They established freedom of speech, of religious worship, of the press, they built Democracy in a Republic. The men of the Civil War saved that nation and the men of the World War defended its honor. Now it is up to those same men to stand against any inroads against the heritage handed down to us of the present day."

Hon. George T. Weingartner, a descendant of John Manning presented some facts concerning the life of the Revolutionary soldier. The exact date of his birth is in dispute, either being 1723 or 1728. He was born on the hill seas en route to this country. He was over 50 when the Revolution occurred but served throughout, fighting at Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine, White Plains and Harlem. Following the war he eloped with a Maryland lady, Nancy Woodell and came to what is now Lawrence County where they raised a large family. He died at the age of 114 and was buried in June 1837.

Many distinguished guests were introduced by Major Foster. Major General Edward C. Shannon, Brigadier-General Blaine C. Smathers, Mrs. S. E. McElvaine, a real daughter of 1812, David Clark, commander of Post 100, G. A. R., former Sheriff Edwin L. Ayers, a Civil War veteran, Mrs. Jennie Stouffer, Women's Relief Corps of 1861, 1865, Rev. John Rutledge, of Ellwood City.
The service was conducted with military precision and to those who had never witnessed such a spectacle before it was most impressive. Members of the Pennsylvania Monumental Association in the matter of directing traffic and the cars moved in and out of the park with no difficulty.

Messages of greeting were brought from other places today. John H. Heitzman, an editor of Seattle, Wash., and a former 28th veteran, was present and spoke. Senior Vice Commander Chester Zerbe of the V. P. W. for Pennsylvania brought greetings from his organization.
The new president was authorized to have his executive committee draw up a plan for voting strength for the next convention in order to provide a fair way of delegate strength at the coming meetings. The society also passed a resolution calling upon the army board to provide care for the Boalsburg Shrine which was erected some years ago.

'Dinky Track' Being Removed From Ray Street

Workmen are now engaged in the removal of the old "dinky track" which crossed North Ray street, between Butler avenue and Washington street, for many years.

PRESIDENT AT HYDE PARK

Will Remain For Week End

Will Return To White House Duties On Monday Morning It Is Announced

SMALL STAFF AT ROOSEVELT ESTATE

(International News Service)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt arrived at Hyde Park Station at 8:30 a. m. today and motored immediately to his family estate about two miles distant.

State troopers and a handful of townfolk were present to welcome the president back home.

Present plans called only for a stay until Sunday night with the president back at his desk Monday morning.

Secretary Marvin McIntyre expected to set up an executive office in Poughkeepsie but he took with him only Miss Grace Tully, the president's personal secretary; Henry Kanne, who is McIntyre's assistant; and E. W. Smithers, communications officer of the White House. This was the smallest staff to move with the president in months.

Miss Marguerite Le Hand, the president's personal secretary, flew up in advance of the presidential party.

living to rise in their wrath against attempts to rob present day Americans of their heritage handed down from the Revolution. "We need the Americanism our forefathers gave us," said General Price. "The time will come and all too soon I am afraid when our sons and grandsons will have to undergo more serious times than have we, unless the present day trend towards dictatorship ceases."

As he finished his address General Price lauded the idea of a veteran's section in the burial park and said "I now dedicate this plot in the name of the Society of the 28th Division and the other veteran bodies co-operating here today." As he finished the flag was run up to the top of the seventy foot pole, the American Legion Band played the Star Spangled Banner and the veterans stood at attention.

Funeral Cortege
A moment later the funeral cortege moved out from the Wilmington Avenue entrance. The casket of John Manning, flag draped, was on an artillery caisson. Heading the cortege were four Legion band boys acting as color bearers and guards.

Senior Vice Commander Norman P. Nelson and uniformed members of Troop F, 103rd Cavalry, arriving at the grave, an interment service was held by Rev. John J. McVane and Post Commander David Tobin of the American Legion and Senior Vice Commander Norman P. Nelson conducted the Legion grave service. As they finished, a firing squad of troopers fired three volleys over the grave and Bugler Al Jones of Harrisburg blew taps. From a spot over a thick carpet of bugles took it up in echo.

President Conn Opens

The service was opened by National President A. Lewis Conn, of the Society of the 28th Division. Briefly he outlined the purpose of the service and introduced Major Arthur B. Foster. Prior to the speaking the Legion band played "America" and Rev. McVane pronounced the invocation.

Major Guy J. Wadlinger was the first speaker and he dwelt upon the bond of service between the men of the Revolution and the World War. "John Manning and his males did not die in vain," said Major Wadlinger. "They established freedom of speech, they built Democracy in a Republic. The men of the Civil War saved that nation and the men of the World War defended its honor. Now it is up to those same men to stand against any inroads against the heritage handed down to us of the present day."

Hon. George T. Weingartner, a descendant of John Manning, presented some facts concerning the life of the Revolutionary soldier. The exact date of his birth is in dispute, either being 1723 or 1728. He was born on the high seas en route to this country. He was over 50 when the Revolution occurred but served throughout, fighting at Trenton, Princeton, Brandywine, White Plains and Harlem. Following the war he eloped with a Maryland lady, Nancy Woodell and came to what is now Lawrence County where they raised a large family. He died at the age of 114 and was buried in June 1837.

Many distinguished guests were introduced by Major Foster. Major General Edward C. Shannon, Brigadier-General Blaine C. Smathers, Mrs. S. E. McCleary, a real daughter of 1812, David Clark, commander of Post 100, G. A. R., former sheriff Edwin L. Ayers, a Civil War veteran, Mrs. Jennie Stouffer, Women's Relief Corps of 1861, 1865, Rev. John Rutledge, of Ellwood City.

The service was conducted with military precision and to those who had never witnessed such a spectacle before it was most impressive. Members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police co-operated in the matter of directing traffic and the cars moved in and out of the park with no difficulty.

nation as he felt that the new president should come from a city near the next convention city.

Messages of greeting were brought from other places today. John H. Heitzman, an editor of Seattle, Wash., and a former 28th veteran, was present and spoke. Senior Vice Commander Chester Zerbe of the V. F. W. for Pennsylvania brought greetings from his organization. The new president was authorized to have his executive committee draw up a plan for voting strength for the next convention in order to provide a fair way of delegate strength at the coming meetings. The society also passed a resolution calling upon the army board to provide care for the Boalsburg Shrine which was erected some years ago.

Parade This Afternoon

This afternoon the society parades at 3 o'clock followed by the annual banquet tonight in The Castleton hotel at 6 o'clock. Ronald Thompson of Pittsburgh will be the toastmaster.

The line of march this afternoon will be from North and Jefferson streets over North to Croton, down Croton to East Washington, down Washington to the Public Square and up Jefferson street. The reviewing stand will be between the Legion Home and the First Methodist church.

Late tonight the delegates will be leaving for their homes. The convention has been a successful one, it is universally agreed. The men and women here have spoken their appreciation of the manner in which New Castle treated the convention delegates and they leave with a fine feeling towards the city and towards the Kahle-Ashton post of the Society of the 28th Division.

Nullifies Congress Action

"I am opposed to any department of the government making agreements that practically nullifies an act of congress. There has been much controversy over the supreme court usurping powers of congress, particularly in dealing with economic problems. The same thing applies to the state department. When congress put the most favored nation clause in the tax, I am satisfied that it did not contemplate that nations coming under it after that enactment would be given the same privileges."

Under the Soviet-American trade treaty, Russia reserved the right to abrogate the pact unless permitted to bring in 400,000 tons of coal duty free.

'Dinky Track' Being Removed From Ray Street

Workmen are now engaged in the removal of the old "dinky track" which crossed North Ray street, between Butler avenue and Washington street, for many years.

MR. AND MRS. REYNOLDS HONORED BY CHOIR

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Reynolds, a bride and groom of July 17, members of the choir of the Epworth M. E. church, gathered in the spacious reception room of the church Friday evening and tendered them a shower and a dinner party. Guests in attendance, numbered fifty.

The long tables were decorated cleverly, to represent a huge rainbow, starting with the gray, going into the tints of blue, yellow, orange, red and winding up with the gold. Appointments were carried out to correspond with each setting. Flowers and candles completed the setting. Mrs. John E. Jackson was responsible for this colorful setting, and to make the rainbow complete, the "pot of gold" was later investigated, which was filled with gifts to each choir member, a special memento of the occasion. The delicious treat was planned by Mrs. Martha McCrory.

Norma Jenkins Honored

The third birthday anniversary of Norma Marie Jenkins was celebrated on Friday afternoon when a number of her little friends gathered at her home on East Washington street.

Games and contests interested the tots with prizes going to Marty Ann Jones and Billy Claypool. Later, a tasty lunch was served with pink and white tones carried out in all appointments. Dainty baskets and miniature dolls marked each place. A large birthday cake, aglow with three candles formed the centerpiece. Norma Marie received many lovely gifts as mementoes of the happy occasion.

REBEKAH LODGE PICNIC SUCCESS

A basket dinner was served last evening, in the grove of Cascade park to a lively group of guests, including members of the Rachael Rebekah lodge, who gathered together with their families for their annual outing.

At 6 o'clock, they sat down to a beautiful menu, with the social committee of two, Mrs. Leonard Campbell and Mrs. Floyd Hook, in charge of the serving. The tables were attractive with appointments in keeping with their lodge colors, pink and green being used throughout.

Entertainment for all, women men, boys and girls and little tots, claimed attention afterwards, with the following carrying off prizes for the various fees, Mrs. Nellie Houk, Ruth Cramer, Junior Cramer, Maxine Schelstrom, Ralph Mayers and Leonard Campbell. Tap solos were contributed by Ruth Cramer and Dora Mae Eagan, while Tommy Houk entertained with a novelty cowboy dance. Mrs. Helen Ray pleased with a vocal selection.

Monday night, the regular meeting of lodge members, will take place in the I. O. O. F. hall.

SAFEGUARDING AMERICANS IN CHINA

PLANS being formulated by United States consular agents in China to protect Americans now occupying danger zones add measurably to the implications of the undeclared warfare existing between China and Japan. Arrangements looking to the safeguarding of the 4000 Americans in Shanghai, the 2000 in Chekiang and Anhwei Provinces and others in scattered settlements intensify the threatening aspects of the situation.

The thirty-nine United States naval vessels in the Far East will be useful if, in an emergency, it becomes necessary to transport American citizens from threatened ports or from China itself. These Americans, for the most part, are not in China on pleasure jaunts. They include employees of industry, missionaries, doctors and nurses. Many of them have dedicated their lives to the alleviation of suffering among China's submerged millions. Removing them from the war danger spots is thoroughly advisable for their own sakes and in the interest of American neutrality.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's embattled cry, "We will fight to the death," is a courageous note in the gloom now spreading in China, but the deluge of Japanese troops upon the mainland and the increased war preparations going forward in Tokyo place an ominous emphasis on the word "death." That the Japanese look forward to the creation of further puppet states in North China on the order of Manchukuo is obvious to all who have watched Japan's policy toward China in the last six years.

There is little question that the world in general sympathizes with Chiang in his expressed determination to keep China intact and, in particular, to save it from the ruthless Japanese imperialists. None the less, if there were presented the basis of a compromise by which Japanese demands could be met in part, China might be spared a destructive war that possibly would render it economically prostrate for years to come. defiance of the lightning is a heroic gesture, but when lightning strikes repeatedly and with merciless force in the same place defiance appears worse than futile.

JUVENILE MISDEEDS DECREASING

Statistics just issued by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, while even more vague than some other recent government data, indicate a general downward trend in delinquency of boys.

While the figures actually cover only the years 1930-34, it is not unreasonable to believe that the increasing efforts to reduce juvenile crime, particularly by offering substitute interests, have maintained this low trend for boys, and that they are constantly growing better.

Of 65,723 prisoners jailed in state and federal prisons and reformatories in 1935, 13,618 were between 21 and 24 years old, a higher ratio than in any other similar age group, while it is common knowledge that the major crime age extends from eighteen to thirty, the years of youth.

The American Sociological Society was told last December in a report that locale is more important as a crime-producing factor than personal traits. Boys become bad if their neighborhoods are bad, it was implied. Children's villages comprising upward juveniles are an interesting experiment in environment improvement, while special juvenile courts and social agencies are also increasing factors in minimizing youthful misdoings.

Meanwhile, adults might be reminded again that their conduct sets the pace for the youngsters who follow in their steps. Juvenile crime will always depend to a great extent on grownup crime.

WHO WON THE WAR?

Exercises in connection with the dedication of the Montfaucon memorial to American troops who fell in the Meuse-Argonne offensive were marked by a note of generosity and of fairness by no means characteristic of the attitude of Allied leaders toward American participation in the World War.

Marshal Petain, it is true, has been consistently appreciative of the importance of American aid at a most critical period of the Allies' fortunes. It is, nevertheless, gratifying to hear again from his lips the tribute of a man who ranks only second to Marshal Foch among the great leaders of French forces.

Thoughtful Americans have never claimed that American armies won the World War. It is impossible to dismiss lightly the long years of grueling battle that preceded American entrance into the war and to maintain that American forces achieved victory because they turned the tide in the Allies' favor.

Marshal Petain concedes justly and generously, however, that the war could not have been won by the Allies without the timely American aid. The Italians had suffered defeat along the Piave. Within a few tragic days the British had lost all of the ground gained after three years of heartbreaking sacrifice. The French were hard pressed all along the line. Nothing but the arrival of a young and fresh army of Americans prevented disaster.

This is a part of history. Lloyd George and other European commentators on the events of 1914-18 may not like it, but it is, nevertheless, truth.

The Parent Problem

WHEN NOT TO SPANK

Yesterday we noted that we do not promote co-operation by means of punishment, that whereas we properly make painful to the young child what he must never repeat, we need also to make pleasant to him what we desire that he shall repeat; we help him get satisfaction from doing right so he will go on doing right. Keeping this principle in mind, the need for punishment should be relatively slight. It at once rules out punishment in connection with training in eating habits and toilet habits.

There are other reasons why punishments are not desirable in connection with eating and toilet habits: the pain associated with the specific undesirable act tends to detach itself also to the many detachable acts involved. Spank the child playing with his food or dropping it deliberately on the floor, and the ensuing pain may connect itself with the food and its eating, rendering it repellant. Spank this child for wetting or soiling his clothes and the pain tends to associate itself with his voiding while in the nursery chair.

In all experiences so closely connected in time and place, the pain from punishments inclines to spread to the whole series of experiences. Anyway, if you spank your child when you find him wet, you do not deter his wetting, since it had occurred at an earlier time. You only punish him for being found wet. In order to be at all effective, the pain must immediately follow the act to be avoided so as to be connected closely with it, making the act itself painful.

Delayed Punishment Ineffective. Nor can you employ punishment in such instances without exception. Unless the punishment can be immediate (preferably following directly the first performance of the act to be forbidden) and can be and is employed without exception, it will not be effective and should not be used.

For the same reasons, you would not wisely punish the child for bed-wetting, nail-biting, thumb-sucking, masturbation and the like. And why are some mothers so stupid and cruel, when otherwise lovely and intelligent, as to tattle on the child to the father in the evening, expecting him to punish this youngster and be an ogre to him in the evening for the offenses he committed during the day?

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I WAS IN THE RIGHT, BUT—

I had a perfect explanation, but who would have believed me?

I was driving along a mountain highway in traffic, and we came to a long straight stretch. There were hundreds of yards of distance between me and the next turn and it seemed a good chance to pass another car that had been dawdling along.

So I tooted my horn as a signal, put my foot on the accelerator, and moved over to the left of the road. At that instant the gentleman in front decided that he didn't want to be passed. He stepped on the accelerator, too, and down the road the two of us went, side by side, getting closer and closer every second to that dangerous turn. He was stubborn, I was angry, and finally anxious. He wouldn't go slower. I couldn't get back into the line. . . . But finally by going too fast for safety I managed to pass him just before we reached the turn.

It was lucky for me that I did, because round the turn came an officer on a motorcycle—and you know what would have happened to me if I'd been compelled to pass on that turn and had met the law on the spot. I might have killed him and myself, and in any case from his point of view it would have been a flagrant violation of the law.

There I was, a criminal caught in the act, and what officer, what judge, would have believed me? I had a good story and it was the truth, but how could I convince anybody that what I said happened, had really happened?

I've thought considerably about that incident since then, and it has been more useful to me than a shelf of books on the theory of human conduct. There I was, an innocent possibly make myself look like anything but a liar trying to avoid the responsibility for my guilt.

I might have been talkative, persuasive or defiant. I might have told my story and allowed my obvious sincerity to plead my case for me. . . . I might have stuck to my guns and insisted on talking to the judge and demanding a jury trial. . . . Or I might have decided that I was in a jam, the victim of a bit of bad luck, and taken the medicine that wasn't rightfully mine.

To be honest I don't know what I would have done if a traffic officer had been on that turn—but I do know that the question will rise to puzzle me many a time in the years to come.

There are lots of boys who whistle while they work and lots of boys who merely whistle.

At a recent party one of the guests was sure that the face of his hostess' maid was familiar, but try as he would he could not place her. At last his curiosity got the bet-

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE DICTATOR

Two of the provisions of the law now pending in Congress proposing the establishment of seven additional "electric authorities" of the TVA order, should be known to every citizen who has faith in our democratic system and in honorable government.

The law provides that no person may be appointed as director, administrator or member of one of the authorities "unless he professes belief in the wisdom and feasibility" of the scheme. It provides further that no private utility company, whose business may be appropriated by one of the authorities, may apply for an injunction unless it puts up a bond sufficient to pay all damages suffered by the government or any other interested party in the event the case is decided against the utility.

As Paul Mallon, well known Washington columnist points out, "By legislative fiat it is proposed to command allegiance to the law and to prevent suits against the law."

Thus methods used widely in Russia, Germany and other dictator-ridden countries to command allegiance to a dictator's will are openly proposed in the United States! If this Bill passes, private property may be confiscated or its value and income depreciated and the owner will be helpless. Officialism will become his lord and master, politics his daily bread.

Recounts Signs On Highways

It was good in the early days of gasoline buggies, and it's still good, apparently.

"Drive slow and see our town, drive fast and see our jail."

This sign, with a few local variations here and there, still graces the entrances of thousands of municipalities, an official of the Automobile club of Philadelphia, A. A. A. discovered on a recent trip.

One "Bar-B-Q" owner gets many a laugh and doubtless a customer or two with his sign:

"5860 Miles to Hongkong. Only 500 Yards to Pete's Barbecue."

Humor of a grimmer sort is found in the sign, strategically placed near a dangerous intersection: "Expert Wrecking 300 Yards Ahead."

A sign which points its own moral is that posted by a filling station operator:

"Gasoline 5 cents; State 5 cents; Uncle Sam one cent; City one cent; R. R. 23-4 cents; Aven. 11-4 cents; ME 3 cents—Total, 19 cents."

SATURDAY, AUG. 7.

Aug. 7 In History—The Battle of Thermopylae has been remembered for 24 centuries because of the admiration of classical scholars and historians for the courage of Leonidas of Sparta, who was every inch a king.

When others in the massed armies of Greece fled at the sight of the size of the Persian hordes led by King Xerxes, Leonidas and 1400 soldiers remained to defend the 20-foot passage between cliff and sea, the only accessible entry into Greece known to the invaders. For three days and two nights, Leonidas' crafty generalship and unceasing encouragement of his 1400, held the pass against 500,000 men!

In the third night, Ephialtes, Judas of Greece, guided Persians over a secret path in return for a rich bribe. The Spartans, though assailed front and rear, refused to surrender and died fighting.

Widowed by Leonidas was his niece. He had married his brother's daughter.

Neglected annals of our war department contain stories of courage as moving as that of Leonidas. There was, for instance, the battle between a detachment of American militia and a force of Canadian tribesmen ten times as large, near F. Stanwix, N. Y. It took place 160 years ago yesterday.

Cruciating News, the always interesting source of material often quoted in this column, called this the bloodiest, fiercest and most dramatic battle in our history.

It was fought, of course, before we had an organized war department, for one was not established by congress until 148 years ago today.

We had a secretary of war before we had a war department, for Maj. Gen. Benjamin Lincoln was given that title in 1781.

The war department and the lighthouse service were established the same day. The former has control of our seacoasts and inland waters, but has no authority over lighthouses.

Nor has the coast guard! There were lighthouses, of course, before the federal government started providing them. First on a North American coast was set up in Boston harbor in 1715.

Other Of Today's Yesterdays—1607—First European settlers arrived in Maine.

1893—Panic swept through Wall Street, and depression gripped the country. During the depression 169 breads went into bankruptcy, and $100 par value shares of Northern Pacific sold to 25c.

1919—Actors went on strike thruout the country to force recognition of their union—Actors' Equity association.

THE ANCIENT RULE

The rule is old but still it stays. The one achievement mortals praise:

For others round about to do. What you would have them do for you.

In this way always humans claim. A happy and an honored name.

Nor art, nor strength, nor skill bestow. The love such gracious person know:

Men to the topmost heights may climb. Be powerful for a little time;

Go down, perhaps, in history. And still by all detected be.

The tyrant, worshipful of might. Ceases to think of wrong and right. By fear he rules his fellow here. And hate walks side by side with fear.

Such greatness always at the end. Will leave a man without a friend.

The rule is old. They longest wear. Life's glories who are just and fair; Who having power can still refuse. For selfish ends their power to use.

And only they are truly great. Who gain from life more love than hate.

TODAY Is The Day

SATURDAY, AUG. 7.

Aug. 7 In History—The Battle of Thermopylae has been remembered for 24 centuries because of the admiration of classical scholars and historians for the courage of Leonidas of Sparta, who was every inch a king.

When others in the massed armies of Greece fled at the sight of the size of the Persian hordes led by King Xerxes, Leonidas and 1400 soldiers remained to defend the 20-foot passage between cliff and sea, the only accessible entry into Greece known to the invaders. For three days and two nights, Leonidas' crafty generalship and unceasing encouragement of his 1400, held the pass against 500,000 men!

In the third night, Ephialtes, Judas of Greece, guided Persians over a secret path in return for a rich bribe. The Spartans, though assailed front and rear, refused to surrender and died fighting.

Widowed by Leonidas was his niece. He had married his brother's daughter.

Neglected annals of our war department contain stories of courage as moving as that of Leonidas. There was, for instance, the battle between a detachment of American militia and a force of Canadian tribesmen ten times as large, near F. Stanwix, N. Y. It took place 160 years ago yesterday.

Cruciating News, the always interesting source of material often quoted in this column, called this the bloodiest, fiercest and most dramatic battle in our history.

It was fought, of course, before we had an organized war department, for one was not established by congress until 148 years ago today.

We had a secretary of war before we had a war department, for Maj. Gen. Benjamin Lincoln was given that title in 1781.

The war department and the lighthouse service were established the same day. The former has control of our seacoasts and inland waters, but has no authority over lighthouses.

Nor has the coast guard! There were lighthouses, of course, before the federal government started providing them. First on a North American coast was set up in Boston harbor in 1715.

Former Resident Taking Life Easy

I. A. Williamson Writes Of Activities At His Home In California

Fred L. Rentz, president of The News company, has received a letter from I. A. Williamson, former resident who is now basking in the sunshine and rolling in the sand on Long Beach, Cal. Mr. Williamson formerly lived in the Clinton district, but is well known in other sections of the city.

The letter is as follows:
Long Beach, Cal.,
Aug. 2, 1937.

Mr. Fred Rentz,
President New Castle News.

Well, Fred, it is a long time since I have written you a personal letter, so I am going to tap you a few lines to let you know how things are going with us out here on the coast. We have been having real California weather for the last few days, but as no doubt you know, things are pretty dry out here at this time of the year. Even the great Los Angeles river is as dry as a bone. But in a general way things seem to be pretty good. There are thousands of people coming in every day and taking advantage of the warm sunshine to ramble and frolic on this six-mile beach. Last Sunday it was estimated that there were 150,000 enjoying the surf at Long Beach. Most of these people come by auto and usually traffic is somewhat congested and parking space is at a premium. Last Sunday 40 were carried out by rip-tide and had to be rescued by the life guards. Some of them had to be taken to the hospital for recuperation.

This has been an unusually good season for business, as all places seem to be busy. People seem to be spending money, buying things that they so long done without. There is quite a lot of building going on all over southern California, and in a general way work seems to be plentiful. And of course, when the business gets a good going, real estate is picking up. There seems to be many who are looking for homes. The fishing industry is at its best, and the canneries are kept busy canning hundreds of tons daily.

They have opened up a new oil field right in the city of Wilmington and it is a bee-hive of activity. They are drilling right up to Long Beach's western line, and as the oil belt there is a fight on to keep it from being developed.

The citrus industry is recovering after its setback by freezing weather last winter. The trees were not damaged as much as was at first reported, but we are paying a considerable more for all fruit. Vegetables also are somewhat higher and everything in general is on the upward trend. Rents have increased and are still going up.

After the hard freeze of last winter there wasn't a bloom in any of the parks or city plots. It sure was a sorry looking sight. But Long Beach's civic pride was equal to the task, and today those places are as beautiful as ever. The work of replacing these flowers cost plenty of money.

Long Beach seems to be a mecca for tourists as her entertainments are many and of easy access. We have an argue club. You can get an argument on any subject you wish to introduce. Sometimes there are a dozen arguments going on at the same time.

In a social way we are enjoying it very much. There is seldom a week passes that some of our friends from the old home town don't drop in to visit for a few hours, besides we have made many new friends who visit us quite often. Our most recent Clark from the old home is Charles (Tenie) Reiss and lady friend. After they left Rachel Hamilton dropped in to spend the week-end. On Sunday, the 25th, the Ramblers club held their July outing in Banning park, at Wilmington. We had a very good turnout, but I didn't get the names of the 60 or more in attendance. But there were some new faces among which I recognized Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Gibson of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. James Blaine and daughter, Mrs. Ben Harland and Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman of New Castle, Fred Vandergrift and daughter, formerly of New Castle but now of Redonda Beach, and Charles Barnett, who once resided in the old home town, but now lives here in Long Beach. This outing happened to be held on our wedding anniversary and we received congratulations and wishes for many returns of the day. There was also a shower of many nice and useful things for Miss Pearl Waddington, one of the younger members of the club who was married the first of August. I am sorry we can't be there for old times day, as we would like very much to see our old friends, but there are some of our club who will be trekking their way back to be with you, and our best wishes go with them. To you and the rest of our friends in the old home town, a toast to you.

Wishing you good health and may you never have a sorrow.
Yours as ever,
I. A. WILLIAMSON.

Stanley E. Hall Instantly Killed

Frisco Child Killed When He Slipped From A Horse, Striking His Head

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Stanley E. Hall, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hall, of Frisco, was instantly killed on Friday evening in one of the most distressing accidents ever recorded here.

The boy was riding a horse to his home and at a sudden jump of the animal slipped, tangleing his foot in the harness, and striking his head on the hard-surfaced road. He was dragged for several feet. Stanley and his father had been working on the Miller farm near Wurttemberg, and were returning home from work on the Wurttemberg to North Star road. The father was directly behind the boy in his automobile and witnessed the accident, and as quickly as possible stopped the horse and rushed the child to the hospital, but he died before reaching the hospital.

Stanley was well-liked by his playmates as well as older folks and his untimely death brings sorrow to a wide assemblage of relatives and friends.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Charles and George Hall, at home. He was a member of the Knox Presbyterian Sunday school.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the child's uncle, William Eidenmiller, of the Ellwood-New Brighton road. Rev. Robert E. Bell, pastor of the North Sewickley and Knox churches, will conduct the services. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

When You Receive A Bill

It is an honor to receive a bill. When the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty.

If you never received a bill it would indicate that your credit is worthless, and that no one is willing to take your word that you will pay.

Credit is the most valuable thing a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill you are merely being honest.

When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. IF YOU CAN'T, FRANKLY TELL YOUR CREDITOR WHY YOU CAN'T. You'll find him more than ready to meet you halfway.

CHERISH YOUR CREDIT AS YOU DO HEALTH, HAPPINESS, AND OTHER PRICELESS BOONS EQUALLY RARE AND ELUSIVE.

Early History Of Providence Church

First Of A Series Of Stories Of Early History Of District's Old Churches

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—In the spring and summer of 1801, the earliest recorded services of the sturdy band of pioneers that formed the Providence Baptist church of North Sewickley was held where "the old apple tree stood" under which stood the old log cabin of Ezekiel Jones and his wife Hanna.

In that cabin home the people gathered, coming many miles around, through trackless acres and over unbridged streams. On November 14, 1801, the First Baptist church was organized with 21 charter members under the leadership of Elder Henry Spear, probably an itinerant Baptist preacher.

The little group continued to meet in the Jones cabin or under the trees until it was decided to build a house of worship, where a log church of the hill was erected. The Ellwood City Country club now stands near the place where the apple tree stood. In the summer of 1826, the old tree, which sheltered the early group, was blown down in a storm.

This log church stood until 1848, when a frame church was built nearby. The log church was torn down and the logs were given to the pastor to be used in building a barn.

The new building stood until 1856 when it was destroyed by a storm. In the following year it was replaced by another frame structure, erected by Joseph Hazen, which still stands. It was remodeled in 1888, with two Sunday school rooms added, and a baptistry, previous baptisms being administered in the near-by Connoquessing creek.

Tradition tells two stories of the origin of the name Providence. One is that the members were holding a meeting in the church and a storm came up and as soon as the members left the interior of the church, it was blown down and the members believed it was an act of providence. According to the other story, there were two factions in the church, one wanting the church to be erected on the present site and the other on a different location.

The story continues that it was started on the new location when a severe blizzard struck by profession and baptism. George Riddle and his wife were the first accessions to the membership on April 24, 1802, from Union church, Glade Run.

Records charges and trials, confessions of disorderly walks and resolutions into the fold, the thoughts, doings and leanings of saint and sinner, of both in and out of the church, were then erected on the present site and called Providence.

The church record beginning with the early constitution and continuing to the present day is a curious and interesting study. It is a record of the growth of the church, of the struggles and triumphs of the members, and of the influence of the church in the community.

Among the elders of the early days we find the names of Ezekiel Jones, Henry Kibben, Oliver Jones, Isaac Nathaniel and John Hazen. John Robinson, Nathan Hazen, Benjamin Rocco, William Gardner, Matthew Kelly, Daniel Main, Samuel Thomas and James B. Hazen, all of whom have long past gone to their reward and their rudely carved gravestones stand crumbling in the old churchyard near by.

In the first century, 24 pastors served the church and in the past 36 years four pastors have filled the field, with Rev. J. R. Routledge having served the congregation since March 2, 1925. In 1875, one pastor was paid his year's salary and dismissed when it was found that he was not in accordance with the declaration of faith. Twenty-five years later he passed through North Sewickley in a covered wagon from which he preached and distributed literature of a new faith.

Of the salaries paid the early pastors, no record seems to have been kept. It is assumed that little cash figured in their compensation, payment undoubtedly consisting of the various products of the farm, nor does the present weekly offering seem to have been a regular part of the service. In early records only a few instances are given where money was collected.

In 1832 there were 62 members and in 1833 the membership had nearly doubled with the number being 110. From this time on the church grew in membership and influence, owing to the settlement of the country. It was indeed a beautiful sight to see members come often from a distance of 15 miles.

In 1900 the roll had reached 300, when the Ellwood church was organized and more than one-third of the membership left to join the new church.

Excerpts of minutes in 1818 read: "Resolved that any member that is absent two church meetings running will be sent for for the third, except he be members at a distance."

"May, 1820, church voted Sister — and Sister — be committed to visit Sister — and enquire her reasons for neglecting her seat in the house of prayer, and to cite her to attend next meeting."

At the present time a basement is being erected under the church by means of the financial support of the young people's organizations. (For many of the facts of this story we are much indebted to an early church history written by Mrs. C. R. Routledge and to Mrs. S. G. Hazen.)

When You Receive A Bill

It is an honor to receive a bill. When the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty.

If you never received a bill it would indicate that your credit is worthless, and that no one is willing to take your word that you will pay.

Credit is the most valuable thing a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill you are merely being honest.

When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. IF YOU CAN'T, FRANKLY TELL YOUR CREDITOR WHY YOU CAN'T. You'll find him more than ready to meet you halfway.

CHERISH YOUR CREDIT AS YOU DO HEALTH, HAPPINESS, AND OTHER PRICELESS BOONS EQUALLY RARE AND ELUSIVE.

Early History Of Providence Church

First Of A Series Of Stories Of Early History Of District's Old Churches

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—In the spring and summer of 1801, the earliest recorded services of the sturdy band of pioneers that formed the Providence Baptist church of North Sewickley was held where "the old apple tree stood," under which stood the old log cabin of Ezekiel Jones and his wife Hanna.

In that cabin home the people gathered, coming for many miles around, through trackless forests and over unbridged streams. On November 14, 1801, the First Baptist church was organized with 21 charter members under the leadership of Elder Henry Spear, probably an itinerant Baptist preacher.

The little group continued to meet in the Jones cabin or under the trees until it was decided to build a house of worship, when a log church on the site was erected. The Ellwood City church, now standing near the place where the apple tree stood. In the summer of 1826, the old tree, which sheltered the early group, was blown down in a storm.

This log church stood until 1848, when a frame church was built nearby. The log church was torn down and the logs were given to the pastor to be used in building a barn.

The new building stood until 1856 when it was destroyed by a storm. In the following year it was replaced by another frame structure, erected by Joseph Hazen, which still stands. It was remodeled in 1898 with two Sunday school rooms added, and a baptistry, previous baptisms being administered in the near-by Connoquenessing creek.

Tradition tells two stories of the origin of the name Providence. One is that the members were holding a meeting in the church and a dog came up and as soon as the members left the interior of the church, it was blown down and the members believed it was an act of providence. According to the other story, there were two factions in the church, one wanting the church to be erected on the present site and the other on a different location. The story continues that it was started on the new location when a storm broke and the place of the lumber was carried by the wind back to the old location. The church was then erected on the present site and called Providence.

The church record beginning with the early constitution and continuing to the present day is a curious record of admission by letter, by profession and baptism. George Riddle and his wife were the first additions to the membership on April 24, 1802, from Union church, Glade Run.

It records charges and trials, confessions of disorderly walks and restorations into the fold, the thoughts, the doings and leavings of saint and sinner, often both in one.

These pioneer Christians honored and served God as they thought right, and his wife were the first additions to the membership on April 24, 1802, from Union church, Glade Run.

Among the elders of the early days we find the names of Ezekiel Jones, Henry Kikendall, Oliver Jones, Isaac, Nathaniel and John Hazen, John Robinson, Nathan Hazen, Benjamin Reno, William Gardner, Matthew Kelly, Daniel Main, Samuel Thomas and James B. Hazen, all of whom have long past gone to their reward and their rudely carved gravestones stand crumbling or fallen in the church yard nearby.

In the first century, 24 pastors served the church and in the past 36 years four pastors have filled the field, with Rev. J. R. Routledge having served the congregation since March 2, 1925. In 1875, one pastor was paid his year's salary and dismissed when it was found his teaching were not in accordance with the declaration of faith. Twenty-five years later he passed through North Sewickley in a covered wagon from which he preached and distributed literature of a new faith.

Of the salaries paid the early pastors, no record seems to have been kept but it is assumed that little cash figured in their compensation, payment undoubtedly consisting of the various products of the farm, nor does the present weekly offering seem to have been a regular part of the service. In early records only a few instances are given where money was collected.

In 1832, there were 62 members and in 1838 the membership had nearly doubled with the number being 110. From this time on the church grew in membership and influence, owing to the settlement of the country. It was indeed a beacon light, set upon a hill, and shown afar for its members came often from a distance of 15 miles.

In 1900 the roll had reached 300, and the Ellwood church was organized and more than one-third of the membership left to join the new church.

Excerpts of minutes in 1818 read: "Resolved that any member that is absent two church meetings running will be sent for for the third, except if he members at a distance."

"May, 1820, church voted Sister and Sister — be committed to visit and enquire her reasons for neglecting her seat in the house of prayer, and to cite her to attend next meeting."

At the present time a basement is being erected under the church by means of the financial support of the young people's organizations.

(For many of the facts of this story we are much indebted to any early church history written by Mrs. C. R. Routledge and to Mrs. S. G. Hazen.)

Jos. D. Alexander Seeks Reelection

Candidate For Republican Nomination For Second Term In City Council

JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER

To the Voters of New Castle: Four years ago, in announcing that I was a candidate for council, I said:

"If nominated and elected, I will devote all my time and efforts to getting as much value for our government dollar as is humanly possible to do."

That was my only campaign promise. At that time 6597 voters believed and accepted me, and I think that any of them, who will examine my record in council, will feel that I have performed my pledge.

Many voters ask the question: What makes a good councilman? A good councilman should always be courteous and attentive to the people he serves and willing to listen to them and to study their suggestions and complaints. This I have always endeavored to do.

He should not temporize or put off any sincere request of a citizen, but should do something about it. I have never, while your councilman, evaded any duty, no matter how unpleasant or difficult it was, but have endeavored always to see that the city's work was done with common sense and dispatch.

A councilman should be able to do the administrative work which is assigned to him, as he would expect to do the same work if employed by a private corporation. In the department assigned to me I have been able to keep all of the city's buildings, parks and public property in good condition at the minimum cost.

I have studied the sewage disposal plant minutely and, with able assistants, have made its operation successful and at purchasing agent. I have seen to it that all purchases have been made from home merchants, unless to do so was impossible; that the business of the city was fairly and equitably divided among all New Castle merchants and dealers; and that the buying of the city should be done with real economy of tax money.

Finally a councilman must have common sense to legislate for the taxpayers. He must have judgment to know what ought to be done and what ought not to be done. I have endeavored always to obtain all the facts concerning every matter which comes before council, to weigh those facts and to act on them with the same caution and care that I would use were I attending to my own affairs at my own expense and not the public business at the expense of the taxpayers.

I am seeking nomination on the Republican ticket and respectfully solicit the endorsement and support of all of the voters of the city of New Castle, a city of which we are all proud and in whose welfare we are all vitally interested.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER.

Auxiliary Is Formed Here

Women Of 28th Division Launch New Organization At Convention

MRS. ALICE V. JONES NAMED PRESIDENT

After several years of agitation for a women's auxiliary to the Society of the 28th Division, the plan was consummated today when a formal organization was perfected and officers named.

Since the Society was formed in 1930 the women have insisted that an auxiliary organization should be formed to accompany the Society. Harrisburg Post No. 2 organized its own auxiliary as an adjunct to the post but until today the formation of a national auxiliary had remained undone.

Mrs. Alice V. Jones President Meeting in the Castleton Hotel Friday afternoon the women perfected an organization and named officers. Their work was presented to the executive committee of the Society, and the convention body ratified their actions.

Officers of the newly formed auxiliary follow:

President, Mrs. Alice V. Jones, Harrisburg.
First vice president, Mrs. Viola Medsger, Pittsburgh.
Second vice president, Mrs. Katherine McElwee, Chester.

Historian, Mary Wilcox, Wilkinsburg.
Chaplain, Mrs. Nell Conn, New Castle.
Sergeant-At-Arms, Mrs. Jennie Day, Oil City.
Secretary, Mrs. Alma V. Wright, Harrisburg.
Treasurer, Mrs. Anne Rodgers, Harrisburg.

Executive Committee
President, Mrs. Alice Jones; secretary, Mrs. Alma Wright; treasurer, Mrs. Anne Rodgers; Judge Advocate, Mrs. Anne Miller; members ex-officio—Mrs. C. A. Sarver, Oil City; Mrs. Frank Sargent, New Castle; Mrs. Loretta Hunter, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Ruth Rome, Alliance, Ohio; Mrs. Anne Selway, Harrisburg.

Jos. D. Alexander Seeks Reelection

Candidate For Republican Nomination For Second Term In City Council

JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER

To the Voters of New Castle:

Four years ago, in announcing that I was a candidate for council, I said:

"If nominated and elected, I will devote all my time and efforts to getting as much value for our government dollar as is humanly possible to do."

That was my only campaign promise. At that time 6597 voters believed and accepted me, and I think that any of them, who will examine my record in council, will feel that I have performed my pledge.

Many voters ask the question: What makes a good councilman?

A good councilman should always be courteous and attentive to the people he serves and willing to listen to them and to study their suggestions and complaints. This I have always endeavored to do.

He should not temporize or put off any sincere request of a citizen, but should do something about it.

He should never, while your councilman, evade any duty, no matter how unpleasant or difficult it was, but have endeavored always to see that the city's work was done with common sense and dispatch.

A councilman should be able to do the administrative work which is assigned to him, as he would expect to do the same work if employed by a private corporation. In the department assigned to me I have been able to keep all of the city's buildings, parks and public property in good condition at the minimum cost.

I have studied the sewage disposal plant minutely and, with able assistants, have made its operation successful; and as purchasing agent, I have seen to it that all purchases have been made from home merchants, unless to do so was impossible; that the business of the city was fairly and equitably divided among all New Castle merchants and dealers; and that the buying of the city should be done with real economy of tax money.

Finally a councilman must have common sense to legislate for the taxpayers. He must have judgment to know what to do and what ought not to be done. I have endeavored always to obtain all the facts concerning every matter which comes before council, to weigh those facts and to act on them with the same caution and care that I would use were I attending to my own affairs at my own expense and not the public business at the expense of the taxpayers.

I am seeking nomination on the Republican ticket and respectfully solicit the endorsement and support of all of the voters of the city of New Castle, a city of which we are all proud and in whose welfare we are all vitally interested.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER.

English Wit Has Bad Taste

Rudy Vallee's Recent
Broadcast From London
Makes Sad Impression

M'INTYRE STILL "OLD FASHIONED"

By O. O. McINTYRE
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Another advertisement in crazy quilt columns: If the North and East rivers should flood New York, keep cool and remember to run—not walk—for that rowboat always on the sidewalk at the boat shop at the southwest corner of 29th street and Fourth avenue.

It has been long enough now to cool off a bit. But those Rudy Vallee broadcasts from London, a couple of months ago, have to this day left a sour taste. I mean the attitude of the English performers, be engaged toward their American audience. Rudy Vallee, I think, left them romping.

O. O. McIntyre But for instance, Will Fyfe, Scott comedian, took off by saying he had been to America and took a taxi. "So I said to the guy—you see Rudy, I have not forgotten your language. The taxi driver was Charles Laughton who spoke of a man and girl to be portrayed in his film."

And wise cracked: "A guy and a dame to you." The British studio audience howled. Laughton, a four pound a week actor in London, said he had not forgotten his fortune through New York and Hollywood engagements and tax evasion. No one thanked Vallee for his chance. The whole thing was ungracious.

You can pretty well fix your eye by your reactions to the sight of a sweet old lady smoking a cigarette all alone. I suppose the Younger Generation who have seen it all their lives winnow no reaction out of the spectacle. The cigarette for-

I do not think any opprobrious epithet is comparable to "cheer" I first heard Wilson Mizner, long before it was in general use, apply it to a hotel man he disliked. And I think a careful tracing would show he originated it. No one was so completely the master of invective.

We used to smile: "As handy as a pocket in your shirt." But you cannot buy a ready made shirt with a pocket in New York. For some reason the makers won't put them in for home consumption, although out of town orders still have pockets. The New Yorker who indulges those Luxurians and lap up whipped cream are APOLASTIC. New York at present, what with the 6th avenue subway construction and the eternal diarrhea is excessively busy of HYPOCRISY. I don't make love to your wife or you'll commit CISEISM. Patsy Kelly is the most GILPY cat on the street. A near sighted person can see what is happening behind his glasses are usually CATOPTIC. Mac West's face is MARMOREAL. Martha Deane is getting a bit OPOROUS.

Few of these "TESTTUDINARI" OUS argos high brow wear a real tortoise shell. Any Vanderbilt Clark carries a lucky PERIAPT made of lode stones. Blondes are now wearing NANTHOS coats. Douglas Fairbanks is as RINGENT as ever. "Mingling" there is something finely in walking through a park at night is drawing his shade over a great city. A flick of the indefinable akin to hope surges as the first stars blink sleepily before becoming clear white dots. Tall spires take on a dignity not attained by day. Motor cars become respectful and circulate through parks feigning by breezes conceal into moveless glass and the chirp of birds diminishing to a coo. It's the hour when thoughts turn pleasantly to home, loved ones and content. A brush with Something A Bit Real.

Scientists in conclusive recently confessed they were not so certain after all the brain was the seat of human thought. A psychiatrist confessed frankly, "I don't know where thought comes from." The body, ever, he knows, manifests thought, but almost the entire brain has been removed and without impairment of the thinking process. However it seems the general belief that somewhere is The Higher Intelligence and if we tune in properly we reach the perfect state in this world.

Announces Candidacy For

All members of the city police department, excepting those on vacation, were on duty during the parade of the Twenty-Eighth Division this afternoon, according to Police Chief Ralph A. Griswell. After helping to direct traffic before, during and after the parade, the men on the midnight to 8 a. m. turn went home to snatch some sleep before starting their midnight patrol.

It is said that there is some agitation to have the city take over the oiling of dirt streets. At present property-owners along dirt streets pay for oiling. Not long ago council passed a law whereby no one can oil streets here unless he puts up a bond.

Freeborne Enters Race For Council

Announces Candidacy For
Republican Nomination At
September Primaries

NORMAN D. FREEBORNE

In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the City Council of New Castle, I do so after giving the utmost thought and consideration to the responsibilities and serious duties that must naturally confront one seeking a public office of its consequence.

I have had a public school, as well as a high school education, and for the last twelve years have been employed as a motion picture projectionist at the Penn Theatre.

While I have always been active in the affairs of my local union, the Motion Picture Projectionists of New Castle and Sharon, Pennsylvania, yet it was not until the year 1933 that I became active in the general labor movement in and about the city of New Castle.

Elected president of the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly in 1935, I immediately devoted my time and energy to building a representative labor organization in our city, paying particular attention in the development of our present organization to the fact that it at all times respected the property and constitutional rights of others, yet at the same time seeking, as my goal, better living and working conditions for every one of our citizens, irrespective of race, color or creed.

I am content to permit my leadership of the Trades and Labor Assembly since 1933, during which time its membership increased from a roster of about 10 local unions numbering 400 members, to its present body of 40 unions and a membership of 8,500, speak for itself as to whether or not I have enough executive and organizational ability to deserve the position for which I am at present announcing my candidacy.

In seeking the nomination and election to the office of City Council, I am motivated by a sincere desire to serve my fellowman and to assist in securing for rich and poor alike, fair treatment and good government at all times. I am not a candidate of any faction or clique politically or otherwise, and I nominated and elected I promise to devote my entire time in bettering conditions in the city of New Castle as a whole.

Inasmuch as I must continue working at my present position, in order to properly support my family, it will be utterly impossible for me to personally contact all the voters of the city of New Castle, and I therefore wish to take this opportunity of asking for your support and influence at the coming primary election, and in the event, after making a thorough investigation as to my reputation and character in the community, you find me worthy of your support, I will most sincerely appreciate it.

Very sincerely yours,

English Wit Has Bad Taste

Rudy Vallee's Recent
Broadcast From London
Makes Sad Impression

M'INTYRE STILL
"OLD FASHIONED"

By O. O. McINTYRE
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Another adventure in crazy quilt columning: If the North and East rivers should flood New York, keep cool and remember to run—not walk—for that rowboat always on the sidewalk at the boat shop at the southwest corner of 29th street and Fourth avenue.

It has been long enough now to cool off a bit. But those Rudy Vallee broadcasts from London, a couple of months ago, have to this day left a sour taste. I mean the attitude of the English performers he engaged toward their American audiences. Rudy tactfully let them romp.

But for instance, Will Fyffe, Scot comedian, took off by saying he had been to America and took a taxi. "So I said to the guy—you see Rudy I have not forgotten your language. The next offender was Charles Laughton who spoke of a man and a girl to be portrayed in his skit. And wise cracked: "A guy and a dame to you." The British studio audience howled. Laughton, a four pound a week actor in London, got his fame and acquired his fortune through New York and Hollywood engagements and tax evasion. No one thanked Vallee for his chance. The whole thing was ungracious.

You can pretty well fix your age by your reactions to the sight of a sweet old lady smoking a cigarette all alone. I suppose the Younger Generation who have seen it all their lives winnow no reaction out of the spectacle. The cigaret forsooth has saved many a brave girl from becoming an arid old maid. But I remain one of the dodderers who can scarcely refrain from twitching the cigaret from the lips of a gal in a department store handling chiffons. After all!

I do not think any opprobrious epithet is comparable to "heel" I first heard Wilson Mizner, long before it was in general use, apply it to a hotel man he disliked. And I think a careful tracing would show he originated it. No one was so completely the master of invective.

We used to smile: "As handy as a pocket in your shirt." But you cannot buy a ready made shirt with a pocket in New York. For some reason the makers won't put them in for home consumption, although out of town orders still have pockets. The New Yorker is supposed to keep his vest on at all times.

Word beading in the dictionary: If you write illegible letters, like Horace Greely or Noel Coward they are CACOGRAPHIC. The wide women at Schrafft's who indulge those Luxuries and lap up whipped cream are APOLASTIC. New York at present, what with the 6th avenue subway construction and the eternal digging is excessively busy of HYPOGEAN toil. Don't make love to your wife or you'll commit CISCHEISM. Patsy Kelly is the most GILPY gal on the scene. A near sighted person can see what is happening behind his glasses as usually CACOTOPIC. Mae West's face is MARMOREAL. Martha Deane is getting a bit STEALOPYGIOUS. Few of these TESTITUDINARIUS gaggles high brows wear a real tortoise shell. Any Vanderbilt Clark carries a lucky PERIAPT made of lode stones. Blondes are now wearing XANTHOUS coats. Douglas Fairbanks is as RINGENT as ever. Musing: There is something funny in walking through a park as night is drawing its shade over a great city. A flick of the indefinable akin hope surges as the first stars blink sleepily before becoming clear white dots. Tall spires take on a dignity not attained by day. Motor cars become respectful and acquire modulated purr. Ponds feathered by breezes congeal into moveless glass and the chirp of birds diminishing to a coo. It's the hour when thoughts turn pleasantly to home, loved ones and content. A brush with Something A Bit Real.

Scientists in conclave recently confessed they were not so certain after all the brain was the seat of human thought. A psychiatrist confessed frankly, "I don't know where thought comes from." The body, everybody knows, manifests thought, but almost the entire brain has been removed and without impairment of the thinking process. However it seems the general belief that somewhere is The Higher Intelligence and if we tune in properly we reach the perfect state in this world.

TIFEREH ISRAEL
PICNIC ON SUNDAY
Several hundred persons are expected to gather at Algoma Camp, along East Brook road, for the second annual outing of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue and Hebrew school, on Sunday. Mrs. Julius Cohen, general chairman, and P. Alpern, assistant chairman, have arranged an enjoyable program for the occasion.

A religious revival is a failure if the roof of the church still leaks six weeks after the close of the series of meetings.

AROUND CITY HALL

All members of the city police department, excepting those on vacation, were on duty during the parade of the Twenty-Eighth Division this afternoon, according to Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell. After helping to direct traffic before, during and after the parade, the men on the midnight to 8 a. m. turn went home to snatch some sleep before starting their midnight patrol.

It is said that there is some agitation to have the city take over the oiling of dirt streets. At present property-owners along dirt streets pay for oiling. Not long ago council passed a law whereby no one can oil streets here unless he puts up a bond.

Yanks Defeat Young Feller

Wait Until Last Of Tenth
To Win From Indians 7
To 6, Gehrig-Trosky
Homer

GIANTS TREAT PIRATES BADLY

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Bob Feller, youthful strike-out prodigy of the Indians, will readily agree today that for a young Feller trying to get a start in life, the Yanks are a most discouraging outfit to contend with.

For a while yesterday young Bob was doing all right for himself. Hal Trosky's 24th home run had given him a three-run lead going into the last half of the ninth. While he had walked ten, he had fanned 17 to his point and everything looked rosy.

Yanks Tough.
But, as aforesaid, those Yanks are a tough outfit. Heffner singled, but Crossett fouled him. Up came Rolfe, who had fanned three times hand running. But this time Rolfe tripled. Then he made DiMaggio his 12th victim on strikes.

Well, there he was still two runs to the good and two out. Only Lou Gehrig to get rid of and he'd have a victory over the Yanks. And he'd not be already fanned Lou twice?

He certainly wasn't. Those Yanks are tough. This time Lou blasted his 26th homer into the distant bleachers and the score was tied. Most discouraging for a young Feller trying to get a start in life.

Feller To Showers.
Came the tenth and another homer by Mr. Trosky—his 25th—and once again young Bob had a lead. But when Heffner opened with a single, old Steve O'Neill gave him the office for the showers and Heffner appeared. A single by Saltzgaver, a double by DiMaggio and it was all over, 7 to 6, in favor of the Yanks. As aforesaid, those Yanks are one tough outfit.

Still, young Bob has nothing to be ashamed of. Who else can fan a dozen Yanks in one afternoon? He has a world of speed but he needs control, and once he gets it, he is sure to be a great pitcher. After all, he's only 18.

Red Sox Win.
The surprising Red Sox ran their victory string to ten at the expense of the White Sox whom they trimmed 7-3, and the Tigers made it three in a row over the Senators, 10-3.

In the older circuit, Hubbell out-pitched Red Lucas to give the Giants a 6-3 decision over the Pirates. Infield continues to operate like a sieve, but the Giants lost ground for the Cubs took a pair from the Bees, 12-6 and 6-2.

The Cards outslugged the Phils, 10-7, and in a night game, the Reds won at Cincinnati for the first time this season under floodlights by a 3 to 1 score over Brooklyn's Dodgers. Ray (Peaches) Davis held the visitors to four safeties.

Four Lawrence Loop Ball Games Monday

Wampum will play at the Red Sox, Tigers at Hillsville, Bessemer at South Hills and Capitolas at the East Side, Monday. All are Lawrence County Baseball league games. Owing to some of the teams not having submitted box scores, or results for publication, it has been impossible since the second half started to arrange the standing.

Williams, Best '36 Golfer Of Lions, Finds It'll Be Short-Lived Championship

"Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown"—especially if it's a Lion club golf crown. And for proof ask G. Earl Williams, the 1936 golf champ of the New Castle Lions club. Williams wasn't crowned champ until just a few days ago, for reasons. It seems that when the finals of last year's tournament neared, the weather was fit for anything but golf. So the final match was postponed—postponed, in fact until this week.

1937 Tourney Well Along
Since early in the summer the club's 1937 tourney games have been in progress—even though the official 1936 champ still wasn't chosen. But, as the summer weeks passed, players began to feel that the 1936 champ had better be decided—and so on the greens early this week went Mr. Williams and the member with whom he tied last year, Dr. Ralph C. Campbell.

Well, Williams took the honors—and that night learned he'd get the champion's cup. All was fine until three days later.

Chemp Williams' turn came to play another round in this summer's tournament, just as every player's turn comes. But that spelled the downfall—and Williams' disqualification for a competitor, lost all hopes of keeping the handsome cup he'd only won a few days before.

When the Lions golfers gather in the Sylvan Heights course clubhouse for another of their evening tournament rounds on Wednesday, August 11, they'll see Mr. Williams formally presented with the 1936 trophy.

But he well knows that his possession of it will be rather short.

Croton Upsets
Hoods Team, 8-4

Marcellas, Nomads, Millers, Rangers And Pearsons Win Midget League Tilts

With Rubels hurling six-hit ball, the Croton All Stars pulled a surprise, defeating the Hoods 8-4 and went into a deadlock for honors in the American league of the Midget Softball league Friday.

He also struck out 10 batters. The Marcellas finally broke into the winning column by disposing of the Ross A. C. 11-7. A Cozza poled a homer. Ambrosia accounted for his second and third circuit clouts. Carm Conglose, the Joe DiMaggio of the Midget circuit, annexed his ninth four player.

Rangers dropped the Dewey A. C. 5-4. Rangers came back in the ninth with three runs to win. In the National league the Nomads pinned down the ears of the scrappy Russos, 13-11, in a game filled with thrills. Despite the fact that their opponents were much bigger, the Russos made a battle of it all the way through. The Russos rally in the ninth fell short. Nomads are leading the league.

Other winners were: Millers 16, Matlands 7, Pearson A. C. 6, Eagles 15. The Pearsons spotted their foes 14 runs.

Market Range
Narrow TodayTypical Dull Saturday Market, Stocks Display
Mixed Appearance

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—In typical dull Saturday trading the stock market held in a narrow range, with plus signs predominating through pivotal groups.

Dealings were listless from the opening gong, when the list displayed an extremely mixed appearance. A firmer tone developed as the session wore on.

Steels, motors and coppers turned in the best group performances. Rubber shares were backwashed. Adding further to the dullness in local markets was the usual Saturday closings of the London and Paris exchanges. Foreign currencies gained a little ground against the dollar, but dealings here also were light.

Commodities were mixed and quiet. Grains were fractionally improved, including corn and wheat futures, but cotton lost close to 50 cents a bale. The bond market was steady and dull, with U. S. government obligations irregular.

There were a few leaders in the market that scored gains of a point or more. Outstanding were Bethlehem and U. S. Steel in the steel division, Chrysler in the motors, American Smelting and Anaconda in the coppers and Atchison in the carrier section.

U. S. Rubber slipped fractionally on the good news of a sharp increase in earnings for the first half.

National Cash Register, Borden in the foods, Standard Oil of N. J. and Hiram Walker were among the issues to drop under previous closing levels.

The low-priced seaboard air line was a feature, opening a 1/4 lower on a block of 7,000 shares at 1 1/4, compared to its year's low of 1 1/4.

International News Service Sports

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Discreetly and somewhat in the sotto voce manner came the development today that the American lawn tennis expeditious forces brought back (A) Davis cup from England—and (B) an amazing story about the singular antics of William T. Tilden, 2nd., during the final day of the America versus Germany matches at Wimbledon.

Tilden, practically placed on a pedestal as exhibit A in the American history of tennis, openly roared—the story says—for Baron Von Cramm, Germany, against Don Budge, Tilden's successor, if not his supplanter; so vociferously, in fact, that Americans in the stands were of a mind to come over there in a body and offer him violence.

Celebrated Match

This was the by now celebrated match of the Davis cup interzone finals in which Budge lost the first two sets, then won the next two and was down 1-4 in the final set when he came on to win at 8-6.

There was a challenge round later with England but the Budge-Von Cramm match definitely won the cup for one country and lost it for the other.

Nobody on the Davis cup team would discuss the incident today, which seemed significant. But, more noteworthy still, was the comment of an American columnist now sojourning abroad.

Recovery Hurts New Legislation

Roosevelt Is Handicapped By Return Of Prosperity To Country

DEPRESSION HURT HOOVER

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt seems to be a victim of national economic recovery.

For an administration to be the victim of a depression is no new thing.

President Hoover's administration was the victim of one which I never thought it was possible for. I think the war caused it. It was due, as an aftermath of the world conflict, and it changed to set in in the midst of the Hooverian term. True, President Hoover did not foresee it, as probably he might have done. He imagined that we were living in a new era of permanent prosperity.

He told me so in an interview I had with him as secretary of commerce. And maybe, when the crash came, he could have administered first aid a little more effectively than he did. But I do not believe he could have prevented most of what followed to save his life.

The time for preventive measures to be taken, so far as this country was concerned, was in the early days of the big struggle. Even if we had not gone into it we should have felt it. Subsequent backwardness. Almost more than human wisdom would have been required to put on the necessary measures at that stage of the game, to save us from suffering from its effects.

WHO COULD HAVE ACTED?

Anyway, Hoover was caught by a depression resulting from conditions long ante-dating his period in office. If any president, primarily, was to blame it was Woodrow Wilson. Perhaps President Harding or President Coolidge should have foreseen what was coming, and done something—heaven knows what! But the country would not have permitted it, at that. It thought it was living to the tune of an eternal boom.

President Cleveland's second administration also ended to the accompaniment of a fierce depression, in the early 1890's.

Cleveland was accused of causing this. Yet, the late President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank of Chicago, a great economist and financier, once told me that he considered that smashup the last thunderclap of the war of secession, a third of a century ahead of Cleveland's presidential time.

In fact, it is notorious that the farmers bawled out the administration if the weather is unfavorable and they have poor crops.

THIS IS DIFFERENT

But for prosperity to handicap an administration? That is another proposition.

Nevertheless, it is the situation now.

Hitherto, when an administration has come in on a depression and prosperity has ensued, that administration has claimed credit for it, and "cashed in."

Well, the Roosevelt administration came in on a corking fine depression, and times now, under its regime, are pretty good. Business is fairly satisfactory, the farmers are moderately well satisfied for the time being; unemployment is dwindling despite the circumstance that labor trouble is exceptionally rampant—it generally is when workers think they can get higher pay, because employers need them.

TALK AND BACK-TALK

Normally the administration should proclaim, with pyrotechnics: "And, indeed, it does!"

Also, however, it insists: "We want to KEEP it so."

The idea is to prevent any future depressions.

The widespread response is: "To heck with FUTURE depressions! Let's not FUTURE the best RIGHT NOW!"

Owing to a temporary indisposition of County Commissioner, Floyd Cotton, the county commissioners have not yet accepted the plans of the State Highway department for the widening of the New Castle-Youngstown road, but the matter will be taken up the first of next week.

Fredrick Thomas has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Edna May Thomas, on the grounds of "Indignities." The couple were married at Tulsa, Oklahoma in September, 1930. Thomas now lives at 107 Phillips place and Mrs. Thomas at 217 North Mercer street.

Under the will of the late Tillie Rinker of Ellwood City, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, a property in Ellwood City is left to decedent's daughter, Elizabeth Jane Perskins. Other beneficiaries are John Warren Rinker, Elmer Summers, and Edna Keura. John Warren Rinker is named as executor.

An appeal from the decision of Justice of the Peace, S. Y. Douds, of Ellwood City, in the case of Eugene Orin against Robert C. Orin, has been filed at the prothonotary's office. The case involves an automobile damage case in which the justice rendered a decision for $29 in favor of the plaintiff.

Following the decision of Sheriff James A. Chambers, awarding $100 Edward D. Pritchard, 30 cents per day for the maintenance of prisoners. Pritchard is now confined at Frank Hill and the county treasurer, Frank Hill, and the county commissioners, just what he is expected to pay out of the 30 cents per day. Specifically he wants to know if the thirty cents is to cover food alone, or is to take in other such as drugs, clothing, soap and other incidentals, needed in the care of the prisoners. In the opinion of the commissioners, the obligation of the county is to provide food, soap, and bedding, and the sheriff wants some light on this subject.

County Controller Hill has superior court decisions, to see if the matter has been under consideration in other counties.

There is some controversy over the status of prohibitionists. Socialists, and members of other parties with regard to registration for the coming primary. The only parties recognized on the primary ballots are the Democrats, Republicans, Democrats and Royal Oak. The permanent registration law says that the elector must designate his political party for the purpose of voting at the primary. If he registers under any other party than those on the ballot, it would appear that he is not entitled to vote at the primary, but if he registers "no party" he could probably vote at the general election. There are some voters who have been prohibitionists or socialists all their lives and as the law reads it would seem that they cannot vote at the primary.

Some prohibitionists have appealed to the county commissioners in the matter and they have asked their solicitor, Attorney William McElwee, for an opinion as to whether or not they have any jurisdiction over the election laws.

County Treasurer Joseph Hartland has received a letter from the Pennsylvania Game commission, in which important questions over the three-day special deer season are answered. Many hunters will be interested in the provisions, which say: All special deer permits will be issued direct from the offices of the game commission at Harrisburg, upon receipt of properly completed application blanks, which will be available on and after August 10, and remittance by mail. It is not necessary to apply in person.

Applications shall not be filed prior to September 15. No permits will be issued prior to October 1. Permits may be valid only in counties indicated in the permit. During October issuance of permits will be restricted to residents of the respective counties in which such open season is declared. Nov. 1, all permits remaining unused in any county will be available to any resident or non-resident hunter.

A person who kills an antelope deer, under authority of a special permit, may also kill a legal antelope deer during the regular buck season. Permits will be issued in the order received.

The newly revised game code, provides that hunting licenses for the 1937 season will be issued by agents appointed by the Department of Revenue, including county treasurers. Persons between 12 and 16 years may be issued a license only upon presentation of a request from father, mother or guardian, and must be accompanied by parent or guardian, or some immediate member of the family 21 years of age, except while hunting on the premises whereon such person resides. Resident hunter's license fee, $2, non-resident, $15.

The power to revoke hunting licenses has been broadened to accomplish the objectives of the new code, especially to provide against vandalism on farms. A report of the game killed must be mailed to the commission not later than January 15, following the date of issuance. Penalty $2 instead of $20 as heretofore.

Under the new game regulations are now listed as game animals only, and may not be taken with traps, except in counties and during such periods as are designated by the commission.

Woodchucks, commonly known as groundhogs are added to the list of game animals, and may be taken only by the same methods as apply to rabbits and squirrels. Doves are now designated as game birds, but no open season in 1937.

The raccoon is eliminated from the list of fur bearing animals and the commission is given the right to remove it from the list of fur bearing animals in any county.

Steel traps may not be set closer than five feet from any hole or den which may be occupied by fur bearing animals; muskrats and beavers may not be taken by shooting, nor may any fur bearing animal be taken by the use of snare, poison, explosives, chemicals, steel traps with teeth or a jaw spread exceeding 6 1/2 inches, nor may a fur bearing animal be smoked out, or dug out of a den, nor may a tree den be cut.

The list of unprotected birds has been reduced, the birds now on this list being the blue jay, English sparrow, European starling, kingfisher, goshawk, sharp-shinned hawk, cooper's hawk, great horned owl, snowy owl and the crow.

There are a number of general hunting regulations which will be published later.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Recovery Hurts New Legislation

Roosevelt Is Handicapped By Return Of Prosperity To Country

DEPRESSION HURT HOOVER

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist. WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt seems to be a victim of national economic recovery. For an administration to be the victim of a depression is no new thing.

President Hoover's administration was the victim of one which I never thought it was possible for. I think the war caused it. It was due, as an aftermath of the world conflict, and it changed to set in the midst of the Hooverian term. True, President Hoover had not foreseen it, as probably he ought to have done. He imagined that we were living in a new era of permanent prosperity. He told me so in an interview I had with him as secretary of commerce. And maybe, when the crash came, he could have administered first aid a little more effectively than he did. But I do not believe he could have prevented most of what followed to save his life.

The time for preventive measures to be taken, so far as this country was concerned, was in the early days of the big struggle. Even if we had not gone into it we should have felt its subsequent backwash. Almost more than human wisdom would have been required to hit on the necessary measures, at that stage of the game, to save us from suffering from its effects.

WHO COULD HAVE ACTED?

Anyway, Hoover was caught by a depression resulting from conditions long ante-dating his period in office. If any president primarily was to blame it was Woodrow Wilson. Perhaps President Harding or President Coolidge should have foreseen what was coming, and done something—heaven knows what! But the country would not have permitted it, at that. It thought it was living to the tune of an eternal boom.

President Cleveland's second administration also ended to the accompaniment of a fierce depression, in the early 1890's.

Cleveland was accused of causing that. Yet the late President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank of Chicago, a great economist and financier, once told me that he considered that smashup the last thunderclap of the war of secession, a third of a century ahead of Cleveland's presidential time.

In fact, it is notorious that the farmers bawl out the administration if the weather is unfavorable and they have poor crops.

THIS IS DIFFERENT

But for prosperity to handicap an administration? That is another proposition.

Nevertheless, it is the situation now. Hitherto, when an administration has come in on a depression and prosperity has ensued, that administration has claimed credit for it and "cashed in."

Well, the Roosevelt administration came in on a creaking job depression, and times now, under its regime, are pretty good. Business is fairly satisfactory, the farmers are moderately well satisfied for the time being; unemployment is dwindling despite the circumstance that labor trouble is exceptionally rampant—it generally is when workers think they can get higher pay, because employers need them.

Normally the administration should proclaim, with pyrotechnics: "We did all this!"

And, indeed, it does. Also, however, it insists: "We want to KEEP it so."

The idea is to prevent any future depressions.

The widespread response is: "To heck with FUTURE depressions! Let's not rock the boat RIGHT NOW."

A PESSIMISTIC WRITER

If the boat is rocked, all hands may presently be in the soup.

If it isn't rocked at present, possibly it will swamp itself later.

It is the current generation's guess. Let 'em worry. I'll drown, in any event, shortly.

Owing to a temporary indisposition of County Commissioner, Floyd Cotton, the county commissioners have not yet accepted the plans of the State Highway department for the widening of the New Castle-Youngstown road, but the matter will be taken up the first of next week.

Frederick Thomas has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from his wife, Edna May Thomas, on the grounds of indignities. The couple were married at Tulsa, Oklahoma, in September, 1930. Thomas now lives at 107 Phillips place and Mrs. Thomas at 217 North Mercer street.

Under the will of the late Tillie Rinker of Ellwood City, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office, a property in Ellwood City is left to the deceased's daughter, Elizabeth Jane Perkins. Other beneficiaries are John Warren Rinker, Enon Summers, and Edna Ketura. John Warren Rinker is named as executor.

An appeal from the decision of Justice of the Peace, S. Y. Douds, of Ellwood City, in the case of Eugene Orrico against Robert C. Gross, has been filed at the prothonotary's office. The case involves an automobile damage case in which the justice rendered a decision for $29 in favor of the plaintiff.

Following the decision of Judge James A. Chambers, awarding Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, 30 cents per day for the maintenance of prisoners, Pritchard is now endeavoring to find out from County Controller Frank Hill and the county commissioners, just what he is expected to pay out of the 30 cents per day. Specifically he wants to know if the thirty cents is to cover food alone, or is to take in other such as drugs, clothing, soap and other incidentals, needed in the care of the prisoners. In the opinion reference was made to an item of soap, amounting to something over five hundred dollars. The court held that such part of this soap as the prisoners used in keeping clean, should be chargeable to the sheriff, but such part as was in keeping the jail clean, should be paid for by the county commissioners. There is nothing definite regarding clothing, drugs and bedding, and the sheriff wants some light on this subject. County Controller Hill has his attorney looking up some superior court decisions, to see if the matter has been under consideration in other counties.

There is some controversy over the status of Probationists, Socialists, and members of other parties with regard to registration for the coming primary. The only parties recognized on the primary ballots to be printed are Republican, Democrat and Royal Oak. The permanent registration law says that the elector must designate his political party for the purpose of voting at the primary. If he registers under any other party than those on the ballot, it would appear that he is not entitled to vote at the primary, but if he registers "no party" he could probably vote at the general election. There are some voters who have been Probationists or Socialists all their lives and as the law reads it would seem that they cannot vote at the primary. Some Probationists have appealed to the county commissioners in the matter and they have asked their solicitor, Attorney William McElwee, for an opinion as to whether or not they have any jurisdiction over the election laws.

County Treasurer Joseph Hartland has received a letter from the Pennsylvania Game commission, in which important questions over the three-day special deer season are answered. Many hunters will be interested in the provisions, which say: All special deer permits will be issued direct from the offices of the Game commission at Harrisburg, upon receipt of properly completed application blanks, which will be available on and after August 10, and remittance by mail. It is not necessary to apply in person.

Applications shall not be filed prior to September 15. No permits will be issued prior to October 1. Permit will be valid only in county indicated in the permit. During October issuance of permits will be restricted to residents of the respective counties in which such open season is declared. Nov. 1, all permits remaining unused in any county will be available to any resident or non-resident hunter. A person who kills an antlerless deer under authority of a special permit may also kill a legal antlered deer during the regular buck season. Permits will be issued in the order received.

The newly revised game code, provides that hunting licenses for the 1937 season will be issued by agents appointed by the Department of Revenue, including county treasurers. Persons between 12 and 16 years may be issued a license only upon presentation of a request from father, mother or guardian, and must be accompanied by parent or guardian, or some immediate member of the family 21 years of age, except while hunting on the premises whereon such person resides. Resident hunter's license fee, $2, non resident, $15.

The power to revoke hunting licenses has been broadened to accomplish the objectives of the new code, especially to provide against vandalism on farms. A report of the game killed must be mailed to the commission not later than January 15, following the date of its issuance. Penalty $2 instead of $20 as heretofore.

Under the new code raccoons are now listed as game animals only, and may not be taken with traps, except in counties and during such periods as are designated by the commission. Woodchucks, commonly known as groundhogs, are added to the list of game animals, and may be taken only by the same methods as apply to rabbits and squirrels. Doves are now designated as game birds, but no open season in 1937.

The raccoon is eliminated from the list of fur bearing animals and the commission is given the right to remove skunks from the list of fur bearing animals in any county.

Steel traps may not be set closer than five feet from any hole or den which may be occupied by fur bearing animals; muskrats and beavers may not be taken by shooting, nor may any fur bearing animal be taken by the use of snares, poison, explosives, chemicals, steel traps with teeth or a jaw spread exceeding 6 1/2 inches, nor may a fur bearing animal be smoked out, or dug out of a den, nor may a tree den be cut.

The list of unprotected birds has been reduced, the birds now on this list being the blue jay, English sparrow, European starling, kingfisher, goshawk, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, great horned owl, snowy owl and the crow.

There are a number of general hunting regulations which will be published later.

Pennsylvania Members Of Congress Assail New Russian Trade Treaty

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—A split between the state department and congressional representatives from the Pennsylvania anthracite region was threatened today over the terms of the Soviet trade treaty.

Assurances that importation of coal from Soviet Russia—400,000 tons of anthracite coal is to be admitted duty free in the next year—will not be allowed to increase will be sought.

Ray Boland of Pennsylvania, Democratic whip of the house, planned to seek pledges that importations will be restricted while other members proposed to make a general protest against the treaty.

Boland, who engineered the present $2 a ton tariff on coal through congress on a tax bill, challenged the right of the state department to upset an act of congress.

Gives Russia Advantage.
This was done in the treaty, he said, by including Soviet Russia in the list of "most favored nations." Under an amendment to the coal tariff added in the senate, he said, these nations were exempted from the duty.

"I have learned that the state department has placed Soviet Russia under the most favored nation treaty arrangement with a clause which eliminates the tax on Russian coal," said Boland.

"While it is true that assurances (Continued On Page Two)

Battle Is Raging On Teruel Front

Bitter Engagement Near Madrid's Main Road To The Sea

LOYALISTS SHOW MORE STRENGTH

(International News Service)
VALENCIA, Aug. 7.—The Teruel front, where rebels sent a Salaman-der-shaped salient toward Madrid's main road to the sea, became today the scene of one of the most bitterly fought battles of the civil war when insurgents turned angrily on Loyalist counter-attacking armies.

So violent was the Loyalist onslaught on three flanks of the rebelliously-drawn rebel line that several villages northwest of Madrid were taken before the counter-thrust was halted by crushing insurgent reinforcements.

The Insurrectos, striking toward the Madrid-Valencia highway at Cuenca, fell back by thousands to meet the new threat of the Madrid forces, battling from the southwest.

The Valencia army, fighting from the southeast, and the re-established Catalan front, hammering at a 200-mile front along the east flank.

Whatever the result of the present battle, the Loyalist counter-offensive succeeded in its main purpose—stopping the perilous drive which carried the rebels in three weeks through wild mountainous sections to within less than 30 miles of the road at Cuenca.

Maj. Gen. Price Assails Present Day Trends In Dedication Address

High on a timbered knoll of the Castleview Burial Park, a most unusual military service was held Friday afternoon by the Society of the 28th Division and co-operating service bodies. A veteran of the Revolution, John Manning, was interred after lying for a hundred years in another grave, the veteran section of the park was dedicated and a military spectacle presented that will not soon be forgotten.

To many of the veterans present the service must have brought back memories of military burials in France. A splattering of rain brushed ed their faces now and then, and off in the distance the low rumble of thunder might have been heard.

General Price Speaker
For the dedication address, Major-General William G. Price, former commanding general of the 28th division delivered the address. It was such an address as only a true American and soldier could deliver.

He paid tribute to the memory of the men of the Revolution and other wars, but he called upon the

Two eighteen year old boys confessed to New Castle officers yesterday at Jefferson, O. that they held up and robbed the Matthews gasoline station, near Parktown corners, July 17 and used a cap pistol not only in this robbery but in several others, the local officers claim. They are said to have robbed four gasoline stations and to have entered a building in Ohio after they fled from Pennsylvania into Ohio.

They are John Edward, 617 North Main street, Hubbard, and Edward Holland, Hubbard, E. D. 2. Both are said to come from highly respectable families and embarked on their career of crime to get "easy money."

The officers who questioned the youths yesterday were City Detective J. Young, County Detective A. S. Noble and State Trooper Edward Redman. The officers returned last night.

Took License Plates
According to reports Edward and Holland came to New Castle early in July and stole the license plates from two Pennsylvania cars and about two weeks later held up the Matthews gasoline station.

They were masked when they entered the station, forced W. B. Matthews to lay down on the floor and stole $740. However, the license number of their car was such and the number was flashed throughout Ohio.

Their capture was due to a gas (Continued On Page Two)

Harrisburg Man Named President For Coming Year

World War Veterans Of 28th Division Conclude Convention Business

CONVENTION PROGRAM CONCLUDES TONIGHT

Spirited Contest Over Place Of Next Year's Convention This Morning

Closing the convention of the Society of the 28th division which has been meeting in The Castleton Hotel since Thursday, the election of officers and selection of 1938 convention site was held today. William A. Miller of Harrisburg was elected president and Sunbury was selected as the site of the 1938 convention.

The exact date was not set due to the fact that the Sunbury post wants the convention at a time when the new memorial to General Charles H. Clements can be dedicated.

With President Miller the following officers were elected: First vice president, Dale Wilcox of Pittsburgh; second vice, John McElwaine of Chester; third vice, D. R. McKinney of Sunbury; fourth vice, Joseph Anselman, New York City; secretary-treasurer, Harry J. Riker, Harrisburg; judge advocate, Major J. E. Wright of Harrisburg; historian, William Jones of Harrisburg; sergeant at arms, E. F. Day of Oil City.

Stirring Session
The session today was a stirring one marked by a contest between the Philadelphia delegates and the Sunbury delegates for the convention site. Invitations were read from Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia and the Chamber of Commerce but the convention felt that the size of the convention would not warrant its being taken to a city as large as Philadelphia. William A. Hill of Philadelphia, candidate for president, then withdrew his nomination.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt arrived at Hyde Park Station at 8:30 a. m. today and motored immediately to his family estate about two miles distant.
State troopers and a handful of townfolk were present to welcome the president back home.
Present plans called only for a stay until Sunday night with the president back at his desk Monday morning.
Secretary Marvin McIntyre expected to set up an executive office in Poughkeepsie, but he took with him only Miss Grace Tully, the president's personal stenographer; Henry Kanne, who is McIntyre's assistant, and E. W. Smithers, communications officer of the White House. This was the smallest staff to move with the president in months.
Miss Marguerite Le Hand, the president's personal secretary, flew up in advance of the presidential party.

"The time will come and all too soon I am afraid when our sons and grandsons will have to undergo more serious times than have we, unless the present day trend towards dictatorship ceases."
As he finished his address General Price lauded the idea of a veteran's section in the burial park and said "I now dedicate this plot in the name of the Society of the 28th Division and the other veteran bodies co-operating here today." As he finished the flag was run up to the top of the seventy foot pole, the American Legion Band played the Star Spangled Banner and the veterans stood at attention.

national as he felt that the new president should come from a city near the next convention city.
Messages of greeting were brought from other places today. John H. Washburn, an editor of Seattle, Wash., and a former 28th veteran, was present and spoke. Senior Vice Commander Chester Zerbe of the F. W. for Pennsylvania brought greetings from his organization.
The new president was authorized to have his executive committee draw up a plan for voting strength for the next convention in order to provide a fair way of delegating strength at the coming meetings.
The society also passed a resolution calling upon the army board to provide care for the Boalsburg Shrine which was erected some years ago.

Parade This Afternoon.
This afternoon the society parades at 3 o'clock followed by the annual banquet tonight in The Castleton hotel at 6 o'clock. Ronald Thompson of Pittsburgh will be the toastmaster.

The line of march this afternoon will be from North and Jefferson streets over North to Croton, down Croton to East Washington, down Washington to the Public Square and up Jefferson street. The reviewing stand will be between the Legion Home and the First Methodist church.
Late tonight the delegates will begin leaving for their homes. The convention has been a successful one, it is universally agreed. The men and women here have spoken their appreciation of the manner in which New Castle treated the convention delegates and they leave with a fine feeling towards the city and towards the Kahle-Ashton post of the Society of the 28th Division.

"When congress put the most favored nation clause in the tax, I am satisfied that it did not contemplate that nations coming under it after that enactment would be given the same privileges."

'Dinky Track' Being Removed From Ray Street

Workmen are now engaged in the removal of the old "dinky track" which crossed North Ray street, between Butler avenue and Washington street, for many years.
This track was abandoned many years ago, but the track was not removed. At this point the track always left a raised spot in the street, and was a hindrance to traffic. When removed the raised spot will be removed, much to the pleasure of Ray street motorists.

Rebel Planes
(The London Daily Herald, anti-fascist newspaper, said the planes had been identified as belonging to the Spanish rebels.)

At least one of the three planes which took part in the attacks assaulted two of the foreign ships. First, according to accounts, bombs were dropped around the British corporal, and when they did not explode, the plane flew over the ship. The Monzola's captain was wounded by a direct hit, it was reported but the British ship was not hit. Neither was the Djebel Amour damaged.

British Protest
London, Aug. 7.—The British government drafted a strong protest to the nationalistic Junta in Spain today over bombing of the British tanker British Corporal, one of three foreign ships attacked in the Mediterranean yesterday.

The admiralty issued a statement declaring the marking of three planes which attacked the British Corporal "indicated they were probably anti-government machines."
"A strong protest is being made to the nationalistic authorities at Palma," the statement said.
The government is understood to be indignant over what was termed an "unprovoked and unmerited attack" and determined to take fullest possible measures to obtain satisfaction and assurances against a repetition.

MR. AND MRS. REYNOLDS HONORED BY CHOIR

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chester P. Reynolds, a bride and groom of July 17, members of the choir of the Epworth M. E. church, gathered in the spacious reception room of the church Friday evening, and tendered them a shower and a dinner party. Guests in attendance, numbered fifty.

The long tables, were decorated cleverly, to represent a huge rainbow, starting with the gray, going into the tints of blue, yellow, orange, red and winding up with the gold. Appointments were carried out to correspond with each setting. Flowers and candles completed the setting. Mrs. John E. Jackson was responsible for this colorful setting, and to make the rainbow complete, the "pot of gold" was later investigated, which was filled with gifts for each choir member, a special memento of the occasion. The delicious menu was planned by Mrs. Martha McCreary.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were presented with a beautiful electrical gift, in behalf of the assembly, which climaxed the occasion, this being performed by Mrs. Mary Rowland, the eldest member of the choir.

A social period concluded the evening, with all entering into a series of games conducted by Russell Rhodes.

In honor of Charles Burton, his fraternity brothers of the Central Phalanx group of the Y. M. C. A. held a dinner-party Friday evening at a downtown tea room.

The honors are being bestowed upon Burton because of his marriage this morning to Miss Elizabeth Lower.

Following a delicious dinner, which was served at 7 o'clock, Jack Mechling and Gerald Morris took charge of the program and an informal evening of entertainment followed. All Owens gave a short talk at the party.

At a selected time, Jack Mechling presented the honored one with a very attractive gift from the Phalanx members. One special guest at the party was Charles McConnell of Warren, Pa., who was to serve at the wedding as best man.

Following the affair at the tea room, the entire group motored to an inn on the Youngstown road at Parktown where they had a light lunch before returning to their respective homes.

TOLEDO GUEST IS HONORED AT BRIDGE

Miss Gertrude Gallagher of Toledo, O., who is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Copson, Gasfield avenue, graced the role of honor Friday evening, when her hostess, Mrs. Copson entertained informally at bridge in her home.

The players competed for honors in cards during the early hours, the prize falling to Mrs. Floyd Rice. The honoree was also the recipient of a pretty gift.

Refreshments were served at a suitable time, with appointments being in keeping with the summer season.

Louer-Burton Home Wedding Impressive Event Of Today

This morning at 11:30 o'clock, a pretty wedding took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Louer, 1006 Delaware avenue, when their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Louer, became the bride of Charles D. Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Burton of 696 Fayette street. Cumulated guests, numbered forty and upwards, witnessed the impressive event, which was solemnized in a beautiful setting of garden flowers, surrounded by palms and ferns, in an artistic arrangement. Dr. Norris A. White, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated with the single ring service.

Preceding the ceremony, a short program of musical selections was played by Miss Josephine Allen. She also accompanied John Phillips of this city, vocal soloist, who sang "I Love You Truly" and immediately following the Lohengrin Wedding March, announced the entrance of the bride.

The bride, wearing a gown of pearl pink lace, made a delicate style over matching satin, and toe length, with high neckline, was given in marriage by her father. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias, and interest was centered on her head dress, which was a turban fashioned out of a dainty pink point lace kerchief, that was carried by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Abby Welch, sixty or more years ago, at her wedding.

Miss Ruth Rubner of Erie, Pa., classmate of the bride at Thiel college, was her only attendant. She was attired in a blue lace creation, patterned on similar lines, redingote style over satin, with turban to match. Her arm cluster was of pink roses.

Charles McConnell of Warren, Pa., also a college classmate of the groom, served as best man.

A wedding breakfast supplemented the ceremony, the appointments being carried out in keeping with the nuptial motif, in a theme of pink and white. The traditional tiered wedding cake surmounted by miniature figures, formed the centerpiece. Twelve were seated about the bridal table.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Burton departed on a Canadian motor trip and upon their return, will reside at 1810 Highland avenue.

For traveling, she chose a black and white print ensemble, with accessories in white.

The bride is a graduate of New Castle High School, with the class of 32 and attended Thiel college. She is a member of the Gamma Delta Sorority, and for the past two years she has been associated in the offices of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company here.

The groom is a graduate of Carnegie Tech Institute of Technology and is a member of Tau Beta Phi, the Theta Tau and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities. He is president of the local Phalanx club, and is advisor of the H-Y of New Castle. Mr. Burton is employed with the American Cyanamid Chemical Corporation.

Out of town guests at the wedding, included Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Burton and daughter Gladys of Cumberland, Md., Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown and daughter Jane Ann, Burton all of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Welch Boyd, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boyd of Orangeville, O. Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConnell of Warren, Pa., and Miss Ruth Rubner of Erie.

WHEN NOT TO SPANK

Yesterday we noted that we do not promote co-operation by means of punishment, that whereas we properly make painful to the young child what he must never repeat, we need also to make pleasant to him what we desire that he shall repeat; we help him get satisfaction from doing right so he will go on doing right. Keeping this principle in mind, the need for punishment should be relatively slight. It is at once rules out punishment in connection with training in eating habits and toilet habits.

There are other reasons why punishment is not desirable in connection with eating and toilet habits; the main associated with the specific undesirable act tends to attach itself also to the many desirable acts involved. Spank the child playing with his food or dropping it deliberately on the floor, and the ensuing pain may connect itself with the food and its eating, rendering it repellant. Spank this child for wetting or soiling his clothes and the pain tends to associate itself with his voiding while in the nursery chair.

In all experiences so closely connected in time and place, the pain from punishment inclines to spread to the whole series of experiences. Anyway, if you spank your child when you find him wet, you do not deter his wetting, since it had occurred at an earlier time. You only punish him for being found wet. In order to be at all effective, the pain must immediately follow the act to be avoided so as to be connected closely with it, making the act itself painful.

Delayed Punishment Ineffective
Nor can you employ punishment in such instances without exception. Unless the punishment can be immediate (preferably following directly the first performance of the act to be forbidden) and can be and is employed without exception, it will not be effective and should not be used.

For the same reasons, you would not wisely punish the child for bed-wetting, nail-biting, thumb-sucking, masturbation and the like. And why are some mothers so stupid and cruel, when otherwise lovely and intelligent, as to tattle on the child to the father in the evening, expecting him to punish this youngster and expect an ogre to him in the evening for the offenses he committed during the day?

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I WAS IN THE RIGHT, BUT—

I had a perfect explanation, but who would have believed me?

I was driving along a mountain highway in traffic, and we came to a long straight stretch. There were hundreds of yards of distance between me and the next turn and it seemed a good chance to pass another car that had been dawdling along.

So I tooted my horn as a signal, put my foot on the accelerator and moved over to the left of the road. At that instant the gentleman in front decided that he didn't want to be passed. He stepped on the accelerator, too, and down the road the two of us went, side by side.

Getting closer and closer every second to that dangerous curve, I was stubborn. He was angry, and finally anxious. He wouldn't slow down. I couldn't get back into the line. . . . But finally by going too fast for safety I managed to pass him just before we reached the turn.

It was lucky for me that I did, because round the turn came an officer on a motorcycle—and you know what would have happened to me if I'd been compelled to pass on this turn and had met the law on the spot. I might have killed him and myself, and in any case from his point of view it would have been a flagrant violation of the law.

There I was, a criminal caught in the act, and what officer, what judge, would have believed me? I had a good story and it was the truth, but how could I convince anybody that what I said happened had really happened?

I've thought considerably about that incident since then, and it has been more useful to me than a shelf of books on the theory of human conduct. There I was, an innocent looking guilty, and I couldn't possibly make myself look like anything but a liar trying to avoid the responsibility for my guilt.

I might have been talkative, persuasive, or defiant. I might have told my story and allowed my obvious sincerity to plead my case for me. . . . I might have stuck to my guns and insisted on talking to the judge and demanding a jury trial. . . . Or I might have decided that I was in a jam, the victim of a bit of bad luck, and taken the medicine that wasn't rightfully mine.

To be honest I don't know what I would have done if a traffic officer had been on that turn—but I do know that the question will rise to puzzle me many a time in the years to come.

Bible Thought For Today

The sleep of a labouring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much; but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.—Ecclesiastes 5:12.

When one is tempted to gossip about her neighbor, she should think hard and see if there are any kind things she can say about herself.

Developments in congress suggest that most of the passengers who came in on the president's coat tails last November now consider it safe to get off.

Composer says he writes popular hits to occupy himself during periods of insomnia. The effect is identical with that of his hits blaring over the neighborhood radio.

As we see it from here, the soldiers' bonus at the end of the Spanish War will go to the Germans, Italians, Russians, Irish, Portuguese, English, Lithuanians and Greeks.

Victims may get what comfort they may from the information that hay fever is an affliction to which the intelligent are the most susceptible.

Swell-head requires at least two people—one to feel superior and one less fortunate to provide contrast.

Exercise in connection with the dedication of the Montaucon memorial to American troops who fell in the Meuse-Argonne offensive were marked by a note of generosity and of fairness by no means characteristic of the attitude of Allied leaders toward American participation in the World War.

Thoughtful Americans have never claimed that American armies won the World War. It is impossible to dismiss lightly the long years of grueling battle that preceded American entrance into the war and to maintain that American forces achieved victory because they turned the tide in the Allied favor.

Marshal Petain concedes justly and generously, however, that the war could not have been won by the Allies without the timely American aid. The Italians had suffered defeat along the Piave. Within a few tragic days the British had lost all of the ground gained after three years of heartbreaking sacrifice. The French were hard pressed all along the line. Nothing but the arrival of a young and fresh army of Americans prevented disaster.

This is a part of history. Lloyd George and other European commentators on the events of 1914-18 may not like it, but it is, nevertheless, truth.

Marsh Petain, it is true, has been consistently appreciative of the importance of American aid at a most critical period of the Allies' fortunes. It is, nevertheless, gratifying to hear again from his lips the tribute of a man who ranks only second to Marshal Poch among the great leaders of French forces.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:06. Sun rises tomorrow 6:04.

There are still a lot of people in the United States who would rather be right than president.

There are lots of boys who whistle while they work and lots of boys who merely whistle.

The mayor of Pittsburgh is trying to stop auto horn blowing in his city. A $10 fine may be imposed on those who tootle wildly and unnecessarily. The best sign that a bird should be allowed to run a car is how he blows the horn.

Mother: "Where is little brother's ice cream?"
Bobby: "I just ate his by mistake."
Mother: "Whose is that you are just beginning to eat?"
Bobby: "Mine."

Grandpa Tollem says: Some of the men picking political plums need to be canned.

Asked: "Do you have nickel toothpicks?"
Teller: "No, we haven't. These are made of wood."

Promises may be all right in a political campaign if there is any reason to think they will be made good after the candidate is elected. Broken promises cause a lot of trouble in this world and those who break them know better than anyone else sooner or later.

A hick town is a place where grandpa is the policeman because he needs the job.

Pap says it used to be that the father gave the bride away, but nowadays he goes to the wedding to take on a son-in-law.

Mrs. Junewed: "Mary, I put one of my pancakes in the kitchen for you. How did you like it?"
Maid: "Panake, ma-am? I thought it was a new wash cloth and cleaned all the windows with it!"

They have that 3.2 beer out in Kansas and a trial in court is to decide if one can get drunk on it or not. The claim is that it is legal beer and one cannot get piffed on it. That may depend upon the capacity and brain of those who lick it up.

Some farmers in Ohio are striking for more money for the milk they produce. No doubt some of the birds in the cities will think that one heluva note. The farmers set the worst of it all along and have no sixth hour day, five day week and telephone poles to lean up against.

It is difficult to see the real need for the hump on a camel until you try to ride one.

Buddy came in looking very much distressed. "Mummy, is it true that an apple a day keeps the doctor away?"
"Yes, dear. Why?"
"Well, I've kept 13 doctors away this morning but I think one will have to come this afternoon."

Another world war is being talked of in Europe. If one does come this country should just look on and not lend any money.

Fruit Clerk: "Say, why are you holding that magnet to the celery?"
Butter Clerk: "I want to see whether there's any iron in it."

Husband, watching bride in the kitchen: "What is this time, darling—bread or cake?"
"I don't know, dear. It isn't finished yet."

It is only the things we mortals dislike to do that we put off until too late.

TODAY'S STORYETTE
At a recent party one of the guests was sure that the face of his hostess' maid was familiar, but as he would he could not place her. At last his curiosity got the better of him and he asked the better of him and he asked the hostess: "Yes," she smiled, "of course her face is familiar to you. She is my husband's first wife."

"I hear you have a new job?"
"Yes, I'm manicurist in a grocery."
"Manicurist in a grocery?"
"Yes, I have charge of the lady-finers."

Every day some one from a distance writes he is coming to the Old Timer's Picnic on August 18. It will also take the local Old Timer's to make the gathering what it should be.

Hi Hum says the time he put oatmeal in the radiator to stop a leap he closed up everything but the horn.

Very often a man's mind plays his physical efforts a dirty trick.

Rubber dishes are something new and useful in table wear. A prudent housewife will see, of course, that the streak is no tougher than the plate.

Willie: "What is college bred, Pop?"
Pop (with a son home from college): "They make college bread, my boy, from the flour of youth and the death of old age."

The diploma from the school of hard knocks begins, "here lies"

The doctor had pocketed his fee and handed a prescription to his patient, a very stout woman who wanted to reduce.

"Shake your head firmly from left to right," she read in a puzzled way. "But when do I do this?" she asked.

"Before a second helping," answered the physician.

Silly Susie, the sub-story writer, uses onion-skin paper—she wants to be sure her stories will make people cry.

Stanley E. Hall Instantly Killed

Frisco Child Killed When He Slipped From A Horse, Striking His Head

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Stanley E. Hall, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hall, of Frisco, was instantly killed on Friday evening in one of the most distressing accidents ever recorded here.

The boy was riding a horse to his home and at a sudden jump of the animal slipped, tangling his foot in the harness, and striking his head on the hard-surfaced road. He was dragged for several feet. Stanley and his father had been working on the Weller farm, near Wurttemberg, and were returning home from work on the Wurttemberg to North Star road. The father was directly behind the boy in his automobile and witnessed the accident, and as quickly as possible stopped the horse and rushed the child to the hospital, but he died before reaching the hospital.

Stanley was well-liked by his playmates as well as older folks and his untimely death brings sorrow to a wide assemblage of relatives and friends.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by twin brothers, Charles and George Hall, at home. He was a member of the Knox Presbyterian Sunday school.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of the child's uncle, William Eidemiller, of the Ellwood-New Brighton road. Rev. Robert E. Bell, pastor of the North Sewickley and Knox churches, will conduct the services. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

Bethany Class Elects Officers

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 7.—Members of the Bethany class of the First Christian church were entertained in a pleasing manner on Thursday evening when they assembled at the home of Miss Alice Craven, of Frisco, with twenty-five members participating in the events of the evening.

Rev. Robert Taylor conducted the opening devotional period after which an election of officers was held and resulted as follows: President, Samuel Schantz; vice president, Judith Aubrey; secretary, Alice Craven, and treasurer, Mary Ellen Norton.

After a period of outdoor games and contests the group gathered about a glowing bonfire and held a wieners and marshmallow roast. Adjourning was then taken to meet again on Thursday evening, September 2, with the place to be determined.

Discharged From Ellwood Hospital

ZELLENOPLE, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Sara Wendell, of Wilkesburg, who was spending the summer at the Geiser home on Grandview avenue, and who was injured when struck by an automobile eight weeks ago, has been discharged from the Ellwood City hospital.

Mrs. Wendell, an aged lady, was at the Geiser home for the summer and was crossing Main street when the accident happened. She suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

When You Receive A Bill

It is an honor to receive a bill. When the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty.

If you never received a bill it would indicate that your credit is worthless, and that no one is willing to take your word that you will pay.

Credit is the most valuable thing a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt meeting of bills when due. When you pay a bill you are merely being honest.

When you receive a bill, then, meet it if you possibly can. IF YOU CAN'T, FRANKLY TELL YOUR CREDITOR WHY YOU CAN'T. You'll find him more than ready to meet you halfway.

CHERISH YOUR CREDIT AS YOU DO HEALTH, HAPPINESS, AND OTHER PRICELESS BOONS EQUALLY RARE AND ELUSIVE.

Auxiliary Is Formed Here

Women Of 28th Division Launch New Organization At Convention

MRS. ALICE V. JONES NAMED PRESIDENT

After several years of agitation for a women's auxiliary to the Society of the 28th Division, the plan was consummated today when a formal organization was perfected and officers named.

Since the Society was formed in 1930 the women have insisted that an auxiliary organization should be formed to accompany the Society. Harrisburg Post No. 2 organized its own auxiliary as an adjunct to the post but until today the formation of a national auxiliary had remained undone.

Mrs. Alice V. Jones, President

Meeting in the Castleton Hotel Friday afternoon the women perfected an organization and named officers. Their work was presented to the executive committee of the Society, and the convention body ratified their actions.

Officers of the newly formed auxiliary follow:

President, Mrs. Alice V. Jones, Harrisburg.

Second vice president, Mrs. Katharine McEggar, Chester.

Jos. D. Alexander Seeks Reelection

Candidate For Republican Nomination For Second Term In City Council

JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER

To the Voters of New Castle: Four years ago, in announcing that I was a candidate for council, I said:

"If nominated and elected, I will devote all my time and efforts to getting as much value for our government dollar as is humanly possible to do."

That was my only campaign promise. At that time 6597 voters believed and accepted me, and I think that any of them, who will examine my record in council, will feel that I have performed my pledge.

Many voters ask the question: What makes a good councilman?

A good councilman should always be courteous and attentive to the people he serves and willing to listen to them and to study their suggestions and complaints. This I have always endeavored to do.

He should not temporize or put off any sincere request of a citizen, but should do something about it. I have never, while your councilman, evaded any duty, no matter how unpleasant or difficult it was, but have endeavored always to see that the city's work was done with common sense and dispatch.

A councilman should be able to do the administrative work which is assigned to him, as he would expect to do the same work if employed by a private corporation. In the department assigned to me I have been able to keep all of the city's buildings, parks and public property in good condition at the minimum cost. I have studied the sewage disposal plant minutely and, with able assistants, have made its operation successful, and as purchasing agent, I have seen to it that all purchases have been made from home merchants, unless to do so was impossible; that the business of the city was fairly and equitably divided among all New Castle merchants and dealers; and that the buying of the city should be done with real economy of tax money.

Finally a councilman must have common sense to legislate for the taxpayers. He must have judgment to know what ought to be done, and what ought not to be done. I have endeavored always to obtain all the facts concerning every matter which comes before council, to weigh those facts and to act on them with the same caution and care that I would use were I attending to my own affairs at my own expense and not the public business at the expense of the taxpayers.

I am seeking nomination on the Republican ticket and respectfully solicit the endorsement and support of all of the voters of the city of New Castle, a city of which we are all proud and in whose welfare we are all vitally interested.

Respectfully yours, JOSEPH D. ALEXANDER. (POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT)

A short business meeting was held during the early hours of the afternoon with the president, Mrs. Cook, presiding. It was decided at this time that the society's White Cross Donation will be sent to Key-ville, Ga. At the close of the business session the remaining time was spent informally. Mrs. Wm. English Wit Has Bad Taste

Rudy Vallee's Recent
Broadcast From London
Makes Sad Impression

M'INTYRE STILL
"OLD FASHIONED"

By O. O. McINTYRE
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Another adventure in crazy quilt columning: If the North and East rivers should flood New York, keep cool and remember to run—not walk—for that rowboat always on the sidewalk at the boat shop at the southwest corner of 29th street and Fourth avenue.

It has been long enough now to cool off a bit. But those Rudy Vallee broadcasts from London, a couple of months ago, have to this day left a sour taste. I mean the attitude of the English performers engaged toward their American audiences. Rudy tactfully let them romp.

For instance, Will Fyfe, Scot comedian, took off by saying he had been to America and took a taxi. "So I said to the guy—you see Rudy I have not forgotten your language. The next offender was Charles Laughton who spoke of a man and girl to be portrayed in his next play. And wise cracked: "A guy and a dame to you." The British studio audience howled. Laughton, a four pound a week actor in London, got his fame and acquired his fortune through New York and Hollywood engagements and tax evasion. No one thanked Vallee for his chance. The whole thing was ungracious.

You can pretty well fix your age by your reactions to the sight of a sweet old lady smoking a cigarette all alone. I suppose the Younger Generation who have seen it all their lives winnow no reaction out of the spectacle. The cigaret forsooth has saved many a brave girl from becoming an old maid. But I remain one of the doddierers who can scarcely refrain from reaching the cigaret from the lips of a pal in a department store handling chiffons. After all!

I do not think any opprobrious epithet is comparable to "heel" I first heard Wilson Mizner, long before it was in general use, apply it to a hotel man he disliked. And I think a careful tracing would show he originated it. No one was so completely the master of invective.

We used to smile: "As handy as a pocket in your shirt." But you cannot buy a ready made shirt with a pocket in New York. For some reason the makers won't put them in for home consumption, although out of town orders still have pockets. The New Yorker is supposed to keep his vest on at all times.

Word beagling in the dictionary: If you write illegible letters like Horace Greely or Noel Coward they are CACOGRAPHIC. The wide women at Schrafft's who indulge those Lascars and lap up whipped cream are APOLASTIC. New York at present, what with the 5th avenue subway construction and the eternal digging is excessively busy of HYPOGEAN toil. Don't make love to your pal's wife or you'll commit CISCHEISM. Patsy Kelly is the most GILFV gal on the screen. A near sighted person can see what is happening behind his glasses are usually CATOPTIC. Mae West's face is MARMOREAL. Martha Deane is feeling a bit STEALCOPIOUS. Few of these TESTITUDENARIUS acquires high brows wear a real tortoise shell. Any Vanderbilt Clark carries a lucky PERIAPT made of jade stones. Blondes are now wearing XANTHOUS coats. Douglas Fairbanks is as RINGENT as ever. Muskrat: There is something tingling in walking through a park at night is drawing its shade over a great city. A flick of the undetectable akin to hope surges as the first stars blink sleepily before becoming clear white dots. Tall spires take on a dignity not attained by day. Motor cars become respectful and acquire modulated purr. Ponds feathered by breezes conceal into moveless glass and the chirp of birds diminishes to a coo. It's the hour when thoughts turn pleasantly to home, loved ones and content. A brush with Something A Bit Real.

Scientists in conclave recently confessed they were not so certain after all the brain was the seat of human thought. A psychiatrist confessed frankly: "I don't know where thought comes from." The body, everybody knows, manifests thought, but almost the entire brain has been removed and without impairment of the thinking process. However it seems the general belief that somewhere is The Higher Intelligence, and if we tune in properly we reach the perfect state in this world.

TIFEREH ISRAEL
PICNIC ON SUNDAY
Several hundred persons are expected to gather at Algoma Camp, along East Brook road, for the second annual outing of the Tifereth Israel Synagogue and Hebrew school, on Sunday.

Mrs. Julius Cobb, general chairman, and P. Alperin, assistant chairman, have arranged an enjoyable program for the occasion.

A religious revival is a failure if the roof of the church still leaks six weeks after the close of the series of meetings.

AROUND CITY HALL

All members of the city police department, excepting those on vacation, were on duty during the parade of the Twenty-Eighth Division this afternoon, according to Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell. After helping to direct traffic before, during and after the parade, the men on the midnight to 8 a. m. turn went home to snatch some sleep before starting their midnight patrol.

It is said that there is some agitation to have the city take over the oiling of dirt streets. At present, property-owners along dirt streets pay for oiling. Not long ago council passed a law whereby no one can oil streets here unless he puts up a bond.

Freeborne Enters Race For Council

Announces Candidacy For Republican Nomination At September Primaries

NORMAN D. FREEBORNE

In announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the City Council of New Castle, I do so after giving the utmost thought and consideration to the responsibilities and serious duties that must naturally confront one seeking a public office of its consequence.

I have had a public school, as well as a high school education, and for the last twelve years have been employed as a motion picture projectionist at the Penn Theatre.

While I have always been active in the affairs of my local union, the Motion Picture Projectionists of New Castle and Sharon, Pennsylvania, yet it was not until the year 1933 that I became active in the general labor movement in and about the city of New Castle.

Elected president of the New Castle Trades and Labor Assembly in 1933, I immediately devoted my time and energy to building a representative labor organization in our city, paying particular attention in the development of our present organization to the fact that it at all times respected the property and constitutional rights of others, yet at the same time seeking, as my goal, better living and working conditions for every one of our citizens, irrespective of race, color or creed.

I am content to permit my leadership of the Trades and Labor Assembly since 1933, during which time its membership increased from a roster of about 10 local unions numbering 400 members, to its present body of 40 unions and a membership of 6,500, speak for itself as to whether or not I have enough executive and organization ability to deserve the position for which I am at present announcing my candidacy.

In seeking the nomination and election to the office of City Council, I am motivated by a sincere desire to serve my fellowman and to assist in securing, for rich and poor alike, fair treatment and good government at all times. I am not a candidate of any faction or clique politically or otherwise, and I promise to devote my entire time in bettering conditions in the city of New Castle as a whole.

Inasmuch as I must continue working at my present position, in order to properly support my family, it will be utterly impossible for me to personally contact all the voters of the city of New Castle, and I therefore wish to take this opportunity of asking for your support and influence at the coming primary election, and in the event, after making a thorough investigation as to my reputation and character in the community, you find me worthy of your support, I will most sincerely appreciate it.

Very sincerely yours,
NORMAN D. FREEBORNE

Yanks Defeat Young Feller

Wait Until Last Of Tenth To Win From Indians 7 To 6, Gehrig-Trosky Homer

GIANTS TREAT PIRATES BADLY

By FAT ROBINSON

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Bob Feller, youthful strike-out prodigy of the Indians, will readily agree to get a start in life. The Yankees are a most discouraging outfit to contend with. For a while there yesterday young Bob was doing all right for himself. Hal Trosky's 24th home run had given him a three-run lead going into the last half of the ninth. While he had walked ten, he had fanned 11 to his point and everything looked rosy.

Yanks Tough

But, as aforesaid, these Yanks are a tough outfit. Feller, who had been forced to go, came back, who had fanned three times hand running. But this time Trosky tripled. Then he made DiMaggio his 12th victim on strikes.

Well, there he was still two runs to the good and two out. Only Lou Gehrig to get rid of and he'd have a victory over the Yanks. And hadn't he already fanned Lou twice? He certainly had.

But, as aforesaid, these Yanks are tough. This time Trosky blasted his 26th homer into the distant bleachers and the score was tied. Most discouraging for a young Feller trying to get a start in life.

Feller To Showers

Came the tenth and another homer by Mr. Trosky's 25th—and once again young Bob had a lead. But when Hoag opened with a single, old Steve O'Neill gave him the office for the showers and Feller appeared. A single by Salas, a double by DiMaggio and it was all over, 7 to 6, in favor of the Yanks. As aforesaid, these Yanks are one tough outfit.

Red Sox Win

The surprising Red Sox ran their victory string to ten at the expense of the White Sox when they trimmed 7-3, and the Tigers made it three in a row over the Senators.

In the older circuit, Hubbell out-pitched Red Lucas to give the Giants a 6-3 decision over the Pirates whose infield continues to operate like a sieve, but the Giants lost ground for the Cubs took a pair from the Bees, 12-6 and 6-2.

Four Lawrence Loop

Ball Games Monday

Wampum will play at the Red Sox, Tigers at Hillsdale, Bessemer at South Hills and Capitolas at the East Side, Monday. All are Lawrence County Baseball league games.

Owing to some of the teams not having submitted box scores, or results, for publication, it has been impossible since the second half started to arrange the standings.

Williams, Best '36 Golfer Of Lions, Finds It'll Be Short-Lived Championship

"Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown"—especially if it's a Lion club golf crown. And for proof ask

G. Earl Williams, the 1936 golf champion of the New Castle Lions club.

Williams wasn't crowned champ until just a few days ago, for reasons. It seems that when the finals of last year's tournament neared,

the weather was fit for anything but golf. So the final match was postponed—postponed, in fact until this week.

Since early in the summer the

GIRL SCOUTS

JULIETTE LOWE TROOP
Wednesday evening the Girl Scouts of Troop Three held a special meeting at the home of their captain, Miss Mildred Miller, to honor their former captain, Mrs. Sydney Smith, who is visiting here from Buffalo.
An informal time was spent on the porch, during which time songs were sung and Mrs. Smith gave an interesting talk on scouting in Buffalo.
Later a lunch was served by Miss Miller, assisted by Dorothy Ramsey, Laura Snyder and Mrs. Sadie Montgomery.

Typical Dull Saturday Market, Stocks Display Mixed Appearance

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—In typical dull Saturday trading, the stock market held in a narrow range, with plus signs predominating through principal groups.

Drainage was listless from the opening going, when the list displayed an extremely mixed appearance. A firmer tone developed as the session wore on.

Steele, motors and coppers turned in the best group performances. Rubber shares were backed up. Adding further to the dullness in local markets was the usual Saturday closings of the London and Paris exchanges. Foreign currencies gained a little ground against the dollar, but drainages here also were light.

Commodities were mixed and quiet. Grains were fractionally improved, including corn and wheat futures, but cotton lost close to 50 cents a bale. The bond market was steady and dull, with U. S. government obligations erratic.

There were a few leaders in the market that scored gains of a point or more. Outstanding were Bethlehem and U. S. Steel in the steel division, Chrysler in the motors, American Smelting and Anaconda in the coppers and Atchafalpa in the carrier section.

U. S. Rubber slipped fractionally on the good news of a sharp increase in earnings for the first half. National Cash Register, Borden in the foods, Standard Oil of N. J. and Hiram Walker were among the issues to drop under previous closing levels.

The low-priced seaboard air line was a feature, opening a 1/4, lower on a block of 7,000 shares at 1 1/4, compared to its year's low of 1 1/4.

American Columnist Sojourning Abroad Reports Incident At Wimbledon

AMERICAN TENNIS
STARS ANGEREDBy DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
(World Copyright, 1937, by International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Discreetly and somewhat in the sotto voce manner came the development today that the American tennis expeditious forces brought back (A) Davis cup from England—and (B) an amazing story about the singular antics of William T. Tilden, 2nd., during the final day of the America versus Germany matches at Wimbledon.
Tilden, practically placed on a pedestal as exhibit A in the American history of tennis, openly today—the story says—for Baron Von Cramm, Germany, against Don Budge, Tilden's successor, if not his supplanter; so vociferously, in fact, that Americans in the stands were of a mind to come over there in a body and offer him violence.Celebrated Match
This was the by now, celebrated match of the Davis cup interstate finals in which Budge lost the first two sets, then won the next two and was down 1-4 in the final set when he came on to win at 8-6. There was a challenge round later with England but the Budge-Von Cramm match definitely won the cup for one country and lost it for the other.Nobody on the Davis cup team would discuss the incident today, which seemed significant. But, more noteworthy still, was the comment of an American columnist now sojourning abroad.

28th Commend CityDelighted with the hospitality of New Castle people towards the Society of the 28th Division now in convention, three former commanders of the veterans addressed an open letter to Mayor Charles E. McGrath on Friday afternoon.
The letter, which is signed by Major-General Edward C. Shannon, commanding the 24th Division; Major-General William G. Price, Jr., former commander, and Brigadier-General C. Blaine Smithers, commandant of the Scotland, Pa., school for war orphans, follows:
Hon. Charles E. McGrath, Mayor of the City of New Castle, Sir:
Here in your city there is meeting at the present time the Society of the 28th Division an organization composed of men who served in the 28th Division during the World War.
As their commanders during the World War we knew them for the real men they were. Despite the fact that 20 years have elapsed since our association with them, there is still a bond of affection that the years cannot destroy.
In no uncertain tones they have voiced their appreciation of your treatment of them as mayor and of the treatment of the citizens of New Castle.
Undoubtedly you have learned for yourself the calibre of the 28th men you have as citizens. May we as their former commanders express to you as the chief executive of your city, our deep appreciation of your courtesies during the time of the convention.

Recovery Hurts New Legislation

Roosevelt Is Handicapped By Return Of Prosperity To Country

DEPRESSION HURT HOOVER

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—President Roosevelt seems to be a victim of national economic recovery. For an administration to be the victim of a depression is no new thing.

President Hoover's administration was the victim of one, which I never thought it was possible for. I think the war caused it. It was due, as an aftermath of the world conflict, and it changed to set in the midst of the Hooverian term. True, President Hoover had not foreseen it, as probably he ought to have done. He imagined that we were living in a new era of permanent prosperity. He told me so in an interview I had with him as secretary of commerce. And maybe, when the crash came, he could have administered first aid a little more effectively than he did. But I do not believe he could have prevented most of what followed to save his life.

The time for preventive measures to be taken, so far as this country was concerned, was in the early days of the big struggle. Even if we had not gone into it we should have felt it. Subsequent backwash. Almost more than human wisdom would have been required to hit on the necessary measures at that stage of the game, to save us from suffering from its effects.

WHO COULD HAVE ACTED?

Anyway, Hoover was caught by a depression resulting from conditions long ante-dating his period in office. If any president primarily was to blame it was Woodrow Wilson. Perhaps President Harding or President Coolidge should have foreseen what was coming, and done something—Heaven knows what! But the country would not have permitted it at that. It thought it was living to the tune of an eternal boom.

President Cleveland's second administration also ended to the accompaniment of a fierce depression, in the early 1890's.

Cleveland was accused of causing that. Yet the late President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National Bank of Chicago, a great economist and financier, once told me that he considered that smashup the last thunderclap of the war of secession, a third of a century ahead of Cleveland's presidential time.

In fact, it is notorious that the farmers bawled out the administration if the weather is unfavorable and they have poor crops.

THIS IS DIFFERENT

But for prosperity to handicap an administration? That is another proposition. Nevertheless, it is the situation now.

Hitherto, when an administration has come in on a depression and prosperity has ensued, that administration has claimed credit for it and "cashed in". Well, the Roosevelt administration came in on a creaking fine depression, and times now, under its regime, are pretty good. Business is fairly satisfactory, the farmers are moderately well satisfied for the time being; unemployment is dwindling despite the circumstance that labor trouble is exceptionally rampant—it generally is when workers think they can get higher pay, because employers need them.

Normalcy, the administration should proclaim, with protechnics: "We did all this!" And, indeed, it does.

Also, however, it insists: "We want to KEEP it so." The idea is to prevent any future depressions.

The widespread response is: "To heck with FUTURE depressions! Let's not rock the boat RIGHT NOW."

A PESSIMISTIC WRITER

If the boat is rocked, all hands may presently be in the soup. If it isn't rocked at present, possibly it will swamp itself later.

It is the current generation's guess. Let 'em worry. I'll drown in any event, shortly.

MAHONING VALLEY GRANGE

Owing to a temporary indisposition of County Commissioner, Floyd Cotton, the county commissioners have not yet accepted the plans of the State Highway department for the widening of the New Castle-Yonaghtown road, but the matter will be taken up the first of next week.

Frederick Thomas has filed an application at the probathony's office for a divorce from his wife, Edna May Thomas, on the grounds of indignities. The couple were married at Tulsa, Oklahoma in September, 1936. Thomas now lives at 107 Phillips place and Mrs. Thomas at 217 North Mercer street.

Under the will of the late Tillie Rinker of Ellwood City, which has been probated at the probathony and recorder's office, a property in Ellwood City is left to decedent's daughter, Elizabeth Jane Perkins. Other beneficiaries are John Warren Rinker, Enoch Summers, and Edna Kettura. John Warren Rinker is named as executor.

An appeal from the decision of Justice of the Peace S. T. Douc, of Ellwood City, in the case of Eugene Orizio against Robert C. Gross, has been filed at the probathony's office. The case involves an automobile damage case in which the justice rendered a decision for $29 in favor of the plaintiff.

Following the decision of Judge James A. Chambers, awarding Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard, 30 cents per day for the maintenance of prisoners, Pritchard is now endeavoring to find out from County Controller Frank Hill and the county commissioners, just what he is expected to pay out of the 30 cents per day. Specifically he wants to know if the thirty cents is to cover food alone, or is to take in other such as drugs, clothing, soap and other incidentals needed in the care of the prisoners. In the opinion reference was made to an item of soap, amounting to something over five hundred dollars. The court held that such part of this soap as the prisoners used in keeping clean, should be chargeable to the sheriff, but such part as was in keeping the jail clean, should be paid for by the county commissioners. There is nothing definite regarding clothing, drugs and bedding, and the sheriff wants some light on this subject.

County Controller Hill has his attorney looking up some superior court decisions, to see if the matter has been under consideration in other counties.

There is some controversy over the status of Probationists, Socialists, and members of other parties with regard to registration for the coming primary. The only parties recognized on the primary ballots are the Republican, Democrat and Royal Oak. The permanent registration law says that the elector must designate his political party for the purpose of voting at the primary. If he registers under any other party than those on the ballot, it would appear that he is not entitled to vote at the primary, but if he registers "no party" he could probably vote at the general election. There are some voters who have been Probationists or Socialists all their lives and as the law reads it would seem that they cannot vote at the primary. Some Probationists have appealed to the county commissioners in the matter and they have asked their solicitor, Attorney William McElwee, for an opinion as to whether or not they have any jurisdiction over the election laws.

County Treasurer Joseph Hartland has received a letter from the Pennsylvania Game commission, in which important questions over the three-day special deer season are answered. Many hunters will be interested in the provisions, which say: All special deer permits will be issued direct from the offices of the Game commission at Harrisburg, upon receipt of properly completed application blanks, which will be available on and after August 10, and remittance by mail. It is not necessary to apply in person.

Applications shall not be filed prior to September 15. No permits will be issued prior to October 1. Permit will be valid only in county indicated in the permit. During October issuance of permits will be restricted to residents of the respective county in which such open season is declared. No, all persons remaining unissued in any county will be available to any resident or non-resident hunter. A person who kills an antlerless deer under authority of a special permit may also kill a legal antlered deer during the regular buck season. Permits will be issued in the order received.

The newly revised game code, provides that hunting licenses for the 1937 season will be issued by agents appointed by the Department of Revenue, including county treasurers. Persons between 12 and 16 years may be issued a license only upon presentation of a request from father, mother or guardian, and must be accompanied by parent or guardian, or some immediate member of the family 21 years of age, except while hunting on the premises whereon such person resides. Resident hunter's license fee, $2, non-resident, $15.

The power to revoke hunting licenses has been broadened to accomplish the objectives of the new code, especially to provide against vandalism on farms. A report of the game killed must be made to the commission not later than January 15, following the date of issuance. Penalty $2 instead of $20 as heretofore.

Under the new code raccoons are now listed as game animals only, and may not be taken with traps, except in counties and during such periods as are designated by the commission.

Woodchucks, commonly known as groundhogs, are added to the list of game animals, and may be taken only by the same methods as apply to rabbits and squirrels. Doves are now designated as game birds, but no open season in 1937.

The raccoon is eliminated from the list of fur bearing animals and the commissioner is given the right to remove skunks from the list of fur bearing animals in any county.

Steel traps may not be set closer than five feet from any hole or den which may be occupied by fur bearing animals; muskrats and beavers may not be taken by shooting, nor may any fur bearing animal be taken by the use of snares, poison, explosives, chemicals, steel traps, with teeth or a jaw spread exceeding 6 1/2 inches, nor may a fur bearing animal be smoked out, or dug out of a den, nor may a tree den be cut.

The list of unprotected birds has been reduced, the birds now on this list being the blue Jay, English sparrow, European starling, kingfisher, goldfinch, sharp-shinned hawk, Cooper's hawk, great horned owl, snowy owl and the crow.

There are a number of general hunting regulations which will be published later.
